Lockout ends as settlement is reached

The dispute between Haliburton County and its roads department employees ended Thursday night when the union rank and file ratified an agreement hammered out by the County's negotiating committee and CUPE representative, Harold Wrightman earlier in the evening.

Chairman of the negotiating committee, Murray Fearrey, said Tuesday that the total wage package the two sides agreed on represents the same dollar cost to the taxpayer as did the original county offer worked out at concilliation meetings in April.

An across-the-board raise, which had been the main point in the union's stand in the dispute, was not realized, Fearrey said. However, he said, there was a shift of two or three cents per hour in the county's offer. Originally, the county had offered a wage and benefit package ranging from 22 to 30 cents per hour. The offer was re-adjusted at top and bottom to result in wage increases ranging from 24 to 27 cents per hour for the 15 employees of the County Roads Department, who are members of local 1960 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Both sides were satisfied with the agreement worked out at the Thursday meeting, Fearrey said.

The road workers were back on the job Friday, ending the three week lockout.

Missing girl found after search with aircraft, civilians

An 18-year-old girl, from Mississauga, who had been missing for two and a half days in the Head Lake area near Coboconk, was found Monday night after an intensive search by civilians, policemen and Armed Forces personnel.

A spokesman from the OPP detachment in Coboconk said that Beverley Patricia Sims told her parents Saturday that she was going for a walk from the trailer where the Sims had been staying. A search was initiated when she failed to return.

Aircraft from the Canadian Armed Forces rescue centre in Trenton were called in to patrol the area in which Sims was believed lost. A ground search, consisting of civilians and police with bloodhounds, was used to help track Sims down.

She was found at about 6:45 P.M., Monday, walking east on Highway 503, by three civilians who were assisting in the search. Apparently, Sims had hiked into the bush and had lost her way.

"I guess there were a lot of people looking for me," admitted Sims.

She was brought into Ross Memorial Hospital for observation and was released on Tuesday afternoon.

"There's nothing wrong with me except exhaustion and hunger," she said Tuesday.

Man injured, charges laid after fight in area hotel

One man was charged and another was taken to hospital following a fight at the Rockcliffe Hotel in Minden early Saturday morning.

Minden OPP say Gordon Graham, 19, of Rexdale, was charged with assault causing bodily harm following an incident in which he is alleged to have kicked a chair out from under a Stephen O'Brien, and to have punched him when he got up.

O'Brien was treated at Minden Red Cross Hospital for cuts around one of his eyes.

It was close, but this high flying student just managed to make it over a pyramid of fellow students at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School last Wednesday night. Those in the pyramid made it a little easier for her by collapsing at just the right moment. The action took place during one of the displays at the school's annual activity night. More than 300 parents attended.

Damage estimated at $13,800

Nine injured in area crashes

Nine people were injured, three of them seriously, as a heavy volume of traffic over the holiday weekend resulted in a rash of accidents. Minden OPP report that a total of 16 motor vehicle accidents had been investigated by Monday afternoon.

A Burke's Falls man was taken to Minden hospital suffering a cut eye, following a single vehicle mishap last Tuesday. Minden OPP say Bill J. Peters, 22, was injured when the dump truck he was driving rolled over. Peters was southbound on Lutterworth Township Road and turning left when the mishap occurred. Damage was estimated at $2,000. Peters was charged with failing to wear a seatbelt assembly.

A Don Mills woman suffered major injuries and was taken to hospital in Lindsay when the van she was driving left the road and struck a rock cut. Anne S. Egan, 34, was eastbound on Highway 503 when the 1969 van she was driving caught the shoulder of the road and entered the south ditch. A passenger in the vehicle, Michael Egan, age 8, suffered minor injuries. Damage to the van was estimated at $4,000.

OPP say charges are pending.

Two Oshawa men suffered minor injuries in another single vehicle mishap Friday night.

John A. Johnson, 23, and Jon Beers, 19, were injured when their car left Highway 530 in the Maple Lake area. Minden OPP say Johnson lost control of his vehicle near a curve. The car entered a ditch, striking a number of logs and a rocky mound of earth. Damage to the car was estimated at $4,000. Johnson was charged with careless driving.

A charge of careless driving was also laid against a Bancroft man as a result of a crash last Tuesday. James C. Bruce, 47, of R.R. 1, Bancroft was eastbound on Highway 503 at 1:30 A.M. when he lost control of his 1973 car and it entered the north ditch. Bruce was slightly injured. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,800.

A Highland Creek man was seriously injured in a single vehicle accident on Highway 35 south of Minden early Saturday morning. Thomas Driver, 18, was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay following the crash of a 1954 pick-up truck.

Minden OPP say Driver was northbound on Highway 35 when he lost control of the truck. It entered the west ditch and rolled over several times. Two other passengers in the truck suffered minor injuries.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $2,000. OPP say charges are pending in the case.

Sewage systems are substandard, survey finds

One hundred and sixty private sewage disposal systems on Paudash Lake in Cardiff Township were found to be "seriously substandard during inspections last summer according to a report released this week by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment. Of 364 systems inspected, only 66 were found to be satisfactory, or to be working satisfactorily by staff of the Municipal and Private Abatement section of the Ministry, who conducted the survey.

In addition to the 160 systems judged substandard, 46 were judged as "nuisances" in that wash water was discharged onto the surface of the ground, and a further 70 were found to discharge fecal and urinary matter onto the ground surface. Three systems on Paudash Lake were judged to be direct polluters, meaning that the systems allowed sewage to contaminate ground water or to reach the lake either by direct discharge, or through a pipe or ditch, or over the ground surface.

The "satisfactory", or "satisfactory (acceptable)" classifications mean that systems are properly located and well maintained, though an "acceptable" designation means the system may not quite meet current design and construction standards.

A seriously substandard classification means a system does not meet current design, construction and location standards, though such a system is not deemed to be causing pollution at the time of inspection.

As of December 31, 1977, 97 of the faulty systems had been corrected, the Ministry report says. In addition, 23 owners have signed agreements to have corrective work completed during the construction season of this year. The remainder of the cottage owners were notified of their problem by letter from the Ministry, and environmental officers are attempting to obtain direct commitments from these owners, the report says.

Adequate disposal of sewage is a problem in Haliburton County, as it is in other cottage areas, because there is usually too little soil over the bedrock to permit an adequate subsurface disposal system, the Ministry report says. In some cases, this inadequacy can be remedied by placing a suitable filter material over a sufficient area, or by the use of a holding tank. However, the report says, disposal sites for holding tank contents are "rapidly nearing capacity" which may "result in restricting the use of holding tanks." Aerobic sewage treatment systems are also considered an adequate alternative in some cases, the Ministry report says.

Micro-organisms which exist in lakes can be classified under two general headings, according to the Ministry; naturally occurring bacteria, and disease causing micro-organisms called "pathogens" which have the capacity to infect human tissue. "Pathogens are generally introduced into the aquatic environment by raw or inadequately treated sewage, although a few are found in the soil" the report says. These bacteria do not change the appearance of the water, but "cause an immediate public health hazard if the water is used for drinking or swimming."

The cottage Pollution Control Program, under which the Paudash Lake survey was conducted, was begun in 1970, and has continued each year since on various lakes

High speed chase ends in crash, charge

A number of charges were laid against a West Hill man following a high speed chase in the Minden area early Saturday morning.

Minden OPP say a vehicle squealed its tires in Minden at about 5 A.M., then left the village on Deep Bay Road, pursued by a Minden OPP cruiser.

A cruiser from the Coboconk detachment was notified of the pursuit and stood by several miles down the road.

Speeds of over 80 miles per hour were reached during the pursuit, OPP say. Approximately eight miles from the village, the vehicle went out of control and struck a rock cut. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $150.

Wray Martin, 24, of West Hill, driver of the car, was charged with obstructing a police officer, dangerous driving, impaired driving, driving with blood alcohol over .08, and with having liquor readily accessible.

Sharon Morrisette got a taste of a whip cream filled pie Thursday night at the annual Haliburton County Boy Scout fun night at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The scene took place during a mini gong show which was one of the highlights of the evening of entertainment.

Student hired

Social council to complete survey

The Haliburton County Social Planning Council has hired a student for the summer to assist the council in the planning of Chronic Care and to update the Directory of Community Services.

Lori Brown, a resident of Minden, will be sponsored by the province's Experience '78 program and will work for the council over the summer.

Dave Woodall, chairman of the council, said "there is no social services agency within the county, and no system to gather and correlate the information on Chronic Care. Lori will be able to accomplish this task...and update the Community Directory as well.

Woodall says that if volunteers and working professionals were hired to gather all the information required for the project, it would take over a year. By then, much of the data would be inconsistent.

By having one person collect the data over a relatively short period, working full time, says Woodall, much of the collected data will be valid by the time it is circulated.

"Lori will also be required to report to the Council's Chronic Care Committee," says Woodall. Brown will be expected to prepare reports for the council so her progress can be watched.

If the two objectives are met, Brown will then assist the committee in developing a proposal to improve lacking services in the county.

"There's just no way that any regular staff member or any part-time volunteer will be able to do this. We lack both the expertise and the time to get all the facts about the services. Lori can give us some suggestions as to which directions the council should go."

Brown has a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Guelph and graduated with an honours diploma from Haliburton High School in 1975. In the summer of 1975, she worked for the County Board of Education and wrote a history of the county. In the summers of 1976/77, she again worked under the 'Experience' program and worked for the county's public library system.

Five had applied for the program, but two were high school students and were not eligible for the 'Experience' program.

Brown will work out of the Haliburton County Registry Office.

Area students receive diplomas at convocation

A number of Haliburton County residents were among those who received diplomas when Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough held its spring convocation ceremonies, Saturday, May 15.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Flora MacDonald, Conservative MP for Kingston and the Islands.

Area graduates receiving diplomas at the convocation were: William Peter Jackson of Minden, three year diploma in Business Administration; Vera Lynn Barnhardt of Carnarvon, one year certif-

Ski Club request denied

Ministry upholds decision

The Ministry of Natural Resources has decided to uphold the decision of Dysart et al council on the request from the King Ski Club for the use of part of Green Lake near West Guilford.

At its regular meeting, May 8, council heard a delegation from the club, which sought permission to place a ski jump and slalom course on the 285 acre lake.

The King Ski Club had placed the jump and course on the lake previously, but it was ordered removed by the Ministry, which has jurisdiction over the lake surfaces throughout the county. The order for removal of the jump came in the wake of concern about the environmental impact of the jump on such a small lake.

Following the King Ski Clubs presentation, May 8, council retired to committee of the whole, and returned with a resolution saying that the use of a part of the lake, by one group, was not in keeping with council's belief that lakes should be available for use equally by everyone.

A final decision on the matter rested with the Ministry, however, which could have gone against the Dysart council decision.

Fish and wildlife supervisor, Steeve Toole, said Tuesday that the King Club will be notified in writing of the Ministry's decision.

Chamber wants 121 renumbered

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce thinks highway numbers in the county can be confusing, and is urging its members to tell the provincial government about it.

A recent newsletter from the Chamber to its members, notes that "a number of members have expressed their concern about the continuous confusion caused by Highway 121, which actually intersects Highway 35 three times." The Chamber says visitors to the county often find it difficult to follow directions as a result, and sometimes end up miles out of their way.

To end the confusion, the Chamber is suggesting that highway numbers on the section from south of Minden to Fenelon Falls, and on the section from just north of Minden to Bancroft, should be different. The Chamber proposes that one of the two sections should be re-designated Highway 123.

The Chamber newsletter urges that anyone who either agrees with the suggestion or

Haliburton makes the Sun

The Village of Haliburton has made it to the pages of the Toronto Sun. Thursday, a column entitled Town and County Trips, written by Harvey Currell, featured Haliburton, and the historic Reid House in particular. The following is the text of the Toronto Sun article:

In 1884, the hamlet of Haliburton was still a pioneer backwoods community, surrounded by forest and largely dependent on lumbering for its existence. A railway had reached the settlement six years before, but to most Ontario residents, Haliburton still seemed a long way from nowhere.

It was in 1884 that a man named John Reid built a two-storey wooden home for his family in Haliburton. Mr. Reid was a carpenter and cabinet-maker among other things, so he included a shed to house a carpenter shop when he built his home. He also served part-time as the Haliburton village constable. A heavy wooden club, symbol of this office, hung on a nail inside the front door so he could grab it quickly when summoned to break up a lumberjack brawl.

John Reid, like to good workman he was, built his house solidly. It's still standing in Haliburton village and now serves as the local museum. It's full of pictures, tools and other things that give a fairly good impression of what life must have been like when Haliburton was starting to emerge from the backwoods period.

The house is still on its original site, on Park Street, but won't be for very long. The local township council is creating a new 200-acre park on what used to be a clergy reserve lot just across Head Lake from the village. It will include a handsome new museum building. The old Reid house will also be moved to the new location and will continue to be open to the public.

If you'd like to have a look at the Reid house on its original site and browse through the hundreds of interesting exhibits in it, you should do so this summer. The house-moving is planned for early fall.

Exhibits in the house and backyard shed give many interesting insights into the life and attitudes of the 1880's, 90's and early 1900's. There's a big crock, for instance, that was used to dispense "Radium Water" or radioactive water, found in a nearby mine. In those days, far from being recognized as deadly, some radioactive products were sold and used as patent medicines.

There are two old gramaphones with huge flower-like horns, that were considered the last word in home entertainment in the early 1900's.

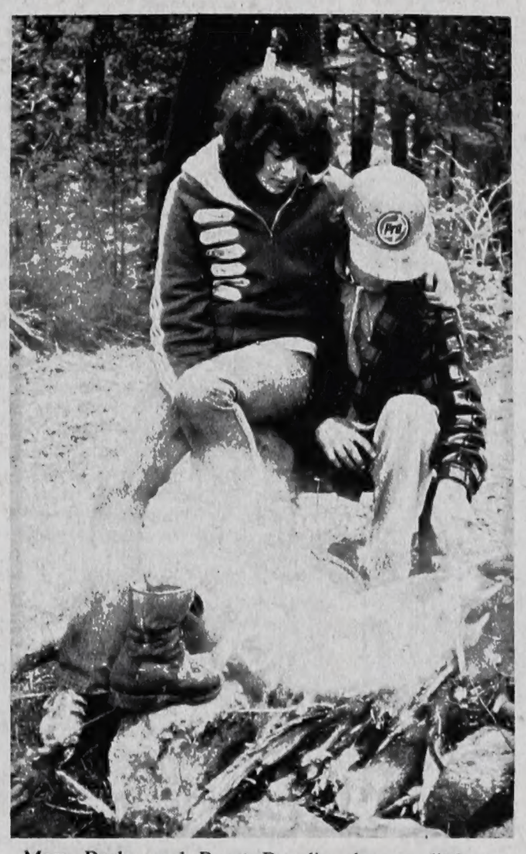
Outers trip teaches sharing, group effort



Mary Darby and Brent Devolin share a little companionship around a fire during the H.H.S.S. Outers annual five day canoe trip in Algonquin Park.

The packs were heavy and the rain fell for three days in a row, but despite those hardships, 16 Haliburton Highlands Secondary School students emerged fit, if a little tired, after a five day canoe trip in Algonquin Park, May 12 through May 16. It was the sixth year in succession that students have ventured on a five day trip.

The canoe trip is more than a holiday for the students. It's also a chance to experience outdoor living, and to escape, if only for a few days, the conveniences of daily living.

Kit Koehler, a teacher at H.H.S.S., who has organized Outers trips for the last six years, says the experience is more than just a canoe trip. "It's working together as a group and with a group."

The 16 students on the trip included three from grade 9, three from grade 10, three from grade 11, six from grade 12, and one from grade 13.

In addition to Kit Koehler, the group was supervised by Gary Kenney, husband of an H.H.S.S. teacher. Kenney has accompanied Outers on two previous trips.

Groups are taken out for two and three day trips in the fall, and younger students are encouraged to try one of these shorter trips before venturing on the more demanding five day trip in the spring, Koehler says.

Gary Kenney, who helped supervise the Outers trip, crosses a log bridge on the portage into Harmen Lake. There were a total of 12 portages on the 25 mile route of the trip.

"It's working together as a group and with a group."

Laura Letourneau took a few minutes to rest on her pack at the end of a long portage. There were a total of twelve portages on the five day trip.

The group travelled in six canoes, one of which was purchased by the Haliburton Board of Education and two of which were purchased by the H.H.S.S. student council. The three other canoes used on this year's spring trip were privately owned and were loaned to the group.

Food, much of it dehydrated, is carried in packs, and each student has to share the load on portages. The students are also responsible for cooking and cleanup, though the menus for each meal are planned before the trip begins.

This years trip covered 25 miles, and included a dozen portages, the longest of which was more than a mile.

Safety is an important consideration on the trips, and each student is aware that an injury to one of them could ruin a trip for the others. Canoes stick closely together, and no horseplay is tolerated. In the six years that the Outers have been canoe tripping, not one canoe has ever tipped over, Koehler points out.

This year's trip was made more difficult by rain on the first three days and by the threat of rain on the last two days, but reasonably warm temperatures kept the group comfortable.

The students are taught to respect the environment on Outers trips, and that means nothing is left behind at a campsite. Anything that can't be burned is carried out in the packs. Dishes are never washed in the lake, but rather over a grease pit dug for the purpose and covered over with soil when a camp is struck in the morning.

The students also learn that the needs of the group have to come before their individual desires, Koehler says. Those who want to catch an extra few minutes sleep in the morning may miss breakfast, and there isn't anything else until lunch.

The trips aren't easy. "They find it strenuous exercise," Koehler says, but just about everyone who goes on an Outers trip ends up thinking the hard work was worth it. Five of the 16 on this year's trip had been out for the five day trip last year.

Brent Devolin offers a steadying hand to Shelley Hunter as she puts on her pack in preparation for a portage. Packs weigh close to 50 pounds at the start of the trip.

A moral issue

Haliburton County and its road workers reached a settlement Thursday night, ending a three week lockout. Wages were the issue which initiated the lockout, but wages were not entirely the heart of the matter. At issue was a philosophy of labour/management relations that gave the Haliburton County dispute a significance beyond the county itself. The dispute, in its broadest sense, was a dispute that is repeated every week in one part of Canada or another. But the fact that this dispute lay close to home gave county residents the chance to see not only the immediate impact of the dispute, but its broader ramifications, as well.

When negotiations broke down, the county had made what it said was its final offer. It stuck adamantly to its position of wage increases ranging from 22 to 30 cents per hour. The offer, according to the County's negotiating committee, was fair and reasonable.

The road workers, represented by the Canadian Union of Public Employees, maintained that an across-the-board increase in the range of six per cent, the maximum allowable under AIB guidelines, ought to be the basis of a new contract.

In adopting its position, and in sticking to it over a period of several weeks, the negotiating committee members, and county council, were taking a philosophical position which ran counter to the usual one in labour/management relations.

In any round of labour and management negotiations, one side is expected to give, in the form of increased wages, while the other side takes. That has always been the way such negotiations have functioned. Management is asked to grant wage, benefit and vacation improvements, with nothing offered from the workers in return.

The facts of the relationship between labour and management are not specific to Haliburton County. They are general across the country.

The county negotiating committee conformed to this tradition, but was reluctant to carry it beyond a certain point. Wage increases were offered, but a limit on dollar spending was called for, and the county stuck firmly to that limit.

Morally, the county's position was sound. Practically, it may have been damaging to the county's economy, and to the morale of the roads department.

Ratepayers should be aware of the political import of the county's actions in the dispute. To force the issue, it locked the workers out. To resolve the issue, it moved to bend a little on increases, but not on the total cost of those increases.

Throughout the dispute, both sides acted responsibly, despite confrontations that were sometimes tense.

The county remained firm on dollar cost, but compromised when it was necessary. The union members are to be commended for accepting the county's offer at the Thursday meeting.

The dispute has ended. Let's hope both sides are wiser for it.

The Township of Stanhope, which had appealed the 1978 apportionment of school board levies, withdrew that appeal recently. Anson, Hindon and Minden council, which had appealed the 1977 apportionment of Haliburton County levies, decided two weeks ago to take the advice of their lawyers and withhold an objection to the 1978 apportionment. Both councils acted responsibly in withdrawing the objections.

The issue of levy apportionments has long been a contentious one in Haliburton County, primarily because of the nature of the county's tax base. Large areas of crown land, forest land, cottage properties and recreational land create a complex tax base where the possibility of iniquities is great. In registering complaints about apportionments, municipal councils have attempted both to make the provincial government aware of the iniquities in the taxation formula, and to save the taxpayers money.

However, in the past two years, apportionment appeals have been defeated in Ontario Municipal Board hearings. The hearings have cost the taxpayers money, and they have gained little or nothing. The government is currently attempting to devise a system of taxation reform which will alleviate problems in the tax base. If those efforts are successful, appeals of apportionments may not be necessary again.

In the past, apportionment appeals have made the government aware of the need for taxation reform. Further appeals, at least until taxation reform is implemented, would have accomplished little.

Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers should be pleased that the appeals were not carried out this year. It means a saving of tax dollars.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Through our clipping service I recently received a copy of an editorial from your paper entitled 'End Ignorance', published April 12, 1978. On behalf of The Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded I would like to commend your paper, and the writer, for a most sensitive, frank and accurate piece of information.

The problems surrounding the establishment of group homes for the mentally retarded in many communities are indeed often centred on fear, ignorance and even superstition. This Association is currently engaged in the initial stages of a province-wide public education program designed to break through these barriers with truth, reality and understanding. Our efforts cannot succeed without the support of many sectors of the community. Of vital importance is the support of a well informed, and interested press. The writer of 'End Ignorance' has demonstrated these essential ingredients, and has placed your paper in the arena of responsible community involvement. In addition the article will be placed into serious consideration for the first annual media writers award to be presented by this Association for journalistic accomplishments in the field of mental retardation.

Sincerely yours,

Henry J. Botchford,
Director of Communications

Dear Editor:

On July 1st weekend of this year, Iroquois Falls High School will welcome back to its halls all former students, teachers and friends. The program will include a large picnic, a dance, a banquet, tours and a parade. The school began in 1921 and has become a very large and modern institution of 1100 students. Many changes have taken place and former students are welcome to share in the school's complete story. The Welcome Back Commmittee would appreciate your printing this letter to let former staff and students know about our plans. Any former staff member or student who wishes to receive further information should write to us in care of the Iroquois Falls Welcome Back Committee, Box 455, Iroquois Falls, Ontario, POK 1E0, to be placed on this mailing list.

Yours sincerely,
Nancy Festarini
Co-Chairman

To the Editor:

I wanted to drop you a line and tell you how much we enjoyed your articles on the OPP and the Emmerson barn raising. It is most interesting to read about the current events and historic occasions that pertain to Haliburton County.

It appears to me, as it must to the other readers, that you are putting in a lot of work researching your articles - well it's worth it! Congratulations - keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Woods.

Dear Editor:

If you haven't been to Niagara-on-the-Lake, which was once a town like yours, then make a trip and pick up some of their ideas. They have a theatre too that brings in more tourists than the town can hold, and they keep coming back because the town is very beautiful in its quaint, old-fashioned way. You have so much potential - use it and Haliburton could be known as the paradise of the north as Niagara-on-the-Lake is in the south.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Carole M. Lidgold,
159 Flora Dr.
Scarborough, Ontario.

Editor's Notebook by Len Pizzey

Canadians, or perhaps I should say some Canadians, have once again demonstrated why Rene Levesque's cause has received the support of a large number of Quebeckers. Monday, fans at the Toronto Blue Jays game, in Toronto, boohed the singing of O Canada, not because they objected to the song, but because the singer chose to sing some of the lines in French. The fans' reaction is a sad comment on the small minded ignorance and prejudice of so many Canadians from Vancouver to St. Johns.

Anyone who feels smug about the morality and "justness" of Canadian society, should pause to reflect on the action of those fans. A society in which a language spoken by 8,000,000 people is held in contempt by a few million others, cannot legitimately claim to be just.

Certainly, the action of those fans does not represent the feelings of all English speaking Canadians. There are enlightened people across this country who recognize the value of two official languages and the richness of Quebecois culture. But too often, the voices of those enlightened Canadians are drowned out by the petty carping of the foolish.

Objections to the French fact in Canada have little to do with an inate difference between those who speak one language or the other. They stem, as far as I can see, from a reluctance on the part of many people to make any effort at all to learn anything which is beyond the bounds of their immediate experience. "None of my neighbours speak French, so why should it be on the labels of cans or on road signs?" the attitude goes. It's time that attitude changed.

Learning French, like any other learning exercise, takes discipline and effort. And like any other learning exercise, it carries its own rewards, in the form of a richer, more tolerant vision of life.

I spent most of my teenage years in Montreal, so the life of Quebec is perhaps not as unfamiliar to me as it is to many people. Yet, while I lived there, I did not learn to speak French. That came later, while I was in university. I spent two summers living in a little village called Trois Pistoles, in the heart of the Gaspe. It was a good, simple life the people lived there, and hardly a one of them could speak English. Yet then, in the early 70's, they did not resent English speaking Canadians. Perhaps that was because those of us who came to their village were willing to accept their language and their culture, and to make the effort to understand it.

Today, it would probably be different. Today, when Toronto Blue Jays fans boo French words to our national anthem, the people of Trois Pistoles will hear about it. It is just the kind of fuel the Parti Quebecois needs to prove that "Les Anglais" will never accept the reality of French Candian culture.

I hope most Canadians are as outraged as I am when they see the ignorance of the foolish who see French as a threat.

It threatens nothing but small mindedness, can alter nothing but cultural myopia. Boo to those Blue Jays fans. They have no right to call themselves Canadians.

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

I received a letter last week from my friend, Wren Blair, who is owner of the Saginaw Gears, and who play in the International Hockey League. The Gears just recently finished their season and once again it was a great one and they are one of the most successful franchises in the league. The Saginaw Gears drew 203,000 people during the schedule for an average of over 5,000 per game in an arena that seats 5,463. They had 23 sell-outs in this total. Wren went on to say that we're very proud that not only did the Gears lead the I.H.L. in attendance, but to his knowledge they led the entire minor hockey leagues of the A.H.L. and C.H.L. as well. They outdrew several W.H.A. clubs and maybe one or two N.H.L. clubs. The Saginaw Club ended in first place in the Northern Division race, while Fort Wayne captured the south. However, as so often happens both teams were eliminated in the semi-finals. The Port Huron Flags eliminated Saginaw, while Toledo ousted Fort Wayne. Those two clubs are now in the I.H.L. finals for the Turner Cup. Our congratulations go out to Wren on the successful franchise in Saginaw and wish him and the club more success come the next hockey season.

The Victoria Holiday weekend is over and as far as we are concerned it was one of the biggest weekends we have seen here in the Highlands of Haliburton for some time now. The weather outside of Saturday afternoon, when it rained quite heavily, was really ideal as thousands of visitors made their way back to the Highlands. If this past weekend was any indication then we are in for a busy summer. If the economy is as bad as they say it is, one would never know it by the large amount of business done by county business people over the weekend.

I was out a little late on Sunday evening and was surprised that most houses in Haliburton had their lights on and not many seemed to be in bed. At first I thought that everyone likely had company over the weekend and this was the reason that everyone was up a little later than usual. It was here that it dawned on me that the reason that everyone was still up was the fact that no one could leave their television sets with such an exciting playoff game on between the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins. We have witnessed many a thrilling hockey game but I wonder if any could compare with the game in Boston on Sunday night. This was a game that had everything, plenty of end to end action, terrific netminding from both Cheevers and Dryden, with overtime thrown in for good measure. It was a game that was up for grabs right up until the final goal had been scored by the Boston Bruins. It was that kind of a game that the hockey fan didn't know what was going to happen next. Montreal dominated the play in the first two periods, and if it hadn't been for the outstanding netminding of Gerry Cheevers, it could have been ball game over at this point. In the third period it was a different story as the Bruins took command and after being behind by the score of 2-1, scored two fast goals to take the lead only to see the game tied up in the last 29 seconds, setting the stage for the dramatic overtime goal.

The citizens of Haliburton County should feel mightly proud that we have an outstanding airport in the area. We are talking of the Haliburton Highlands Stanhope Airport at Maple Lake. This airport is centrally located which means that you can land your aircraft here and travel all over the Highlands by car and return to take off again for wherever your destination may be. Citizens from all parts of this county have told us that putting this airport at Maple Lake was a very progressive move and one that serves a very much needed service in the area. We share the same opinion of many local citizens and visitors that we have an excellent airport in Stanhope and one that we should all support.

Ninety per cent of Ontario's forest lands are in public ownership. The ten per cent in private ownership possess valuable hardwoods and softwoods, are close to centres of population, and are readily accessible. Now that the summer season is with us, let's keep it in mind that "regardless of ownership, forests yield benefits for all society. They are a renewable resource, deserving care and wise use."

Most of us who have children, I am sure from one time to the other always have the worry of them being hit and killed by a car or a truck. This is one reason why I think it was a great move when the provincial government made it law that every driver must stop when they see the flashing signals on school busses. Most children stop at a crossing first, before progressing across the road. Unfortunately, even after stopping first, most children then run across, recent studies indicate. Some walk, but start running when they see a car coming. The fact that most stop first indicates that they probably try to act correctly, suggests the Ontario Safety League, but are unable to take in the entire situation and act accordingly.

Due to the advanced age in which we live, with our modern technology, we find ourselves involved in many world problems. We find it necessary to depend on each other in order to survive. Whether it be a gas shortage in the United States or the need for food and medical aid in Bangladesh, we become involved. It could be a local mine disaster with the thunder of falling rock, the screech of twisting rails, the rumble of moving earth, somehow we become involved.

In response to major and local tragedies the Canadian people, because of their concern, share both materially and financially. But listen, tragedy hits individuals every day - often not the kind that makes for headlines but it's happening and will happen again. We must be prepared. The Salvation Army, an organization that serves in some eighty-four countries, is ready to deal with almost any crisis. However, they need your help. We should all be involved. Give to the Red Shield Campaign currently in progress.

As a closing thought this week may we remind you that the traffic on our highways is getting heavy. Drive carefully and reach your destination safely.

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

For the past two weeks, Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has taken the lead in questioning the government about the practice of some food store chains of deducting money from payments to suppliers for produce, as part of the chains' advertising costs. Now, using a procedural device, the Liberal Caucus have petitioned the Legislature to have the 1977 Annual Report of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food sent to committee, so that food store buying practices can be reviewed. Dr. Smith said he thought such a review would take only four or five days and then it will be possible to "determine whether a much broader, more intensive public inquiry is needed"..."It has become obvious that some kind of review is necessary to ensure the interests of consumers and producers are not threatened...We want a committee that will be able to question witnesses under oath."

In a document, prepared in January, the Ontario Hospital Association states: "If the government doesn't provide the money needed (by hospitals), then it's not the hospital's fault when services have to be cut." Also in the document are a number of criticisms of the government, particularly the Health Ministry, by individual hospital administrators. The Minister of Health told the Association that the health care system is being reviewed, in a move partly prompted by rising costs. Future ministry policies aimed at reducing costs will, it seems, include less emphasis on active treatment hospitals, decentralization of the health-care system with more control given district health councils and increased stress on preventive medicine. Questioned in the House, he said comments expressed by Association spokesmen "should be taken rather lightly" because they represented only 10 per cent of Ontario's hospital administrators. The document reflects, he said, "the recognition on both parts, the Ministry and the OHA, that the health care system is in transition."

The Minister of Industry and Tourism has announced a $250,000 campaign - "We treat you royally" - to turn around the image Ontarians have gained as boorish and unfriendly hosts to foreign visitors. This program aims to make Ontarians more aware of the value of tourism and hospitality traits, and encourage them to welcome visitors from other areas. The Minister is concerned about inconsistency in standards of food and accommodation, non-competitive prices and the reluctance, by some, to honor exchange rates. (Incidentally, it was only after Remo Mancini (L. Essex-South) informed the House that the U.S. dollar wasn't being honored there, that orders were issued to give a premium on U.S. money in the Legislature's dining lounge.) Excerpts from the Liberal Party's Task Force Report on Tourism were also released, and in it we state that the province's tourist industry is over-regulated, over-taxed and suffers from negative attitudes. The Report also suggested a tax credit for all Ontarians vacationing in the province - "It might even convince some Cabinet Ministers to spend their holidays here."

According to the Premier, Ontario does not want to offer large incentives to the four major automotive manufacturers to locate parts plants here, but may have to do so because competition is so fierce. He told the Legislature he knew that another province was prepared to allocate funds to attract the plants and that most of the Northern U.S. states and some Southern states are bidding. David Peterson (L. London-Centre) pointed out that the Treasurer has said that Ontario doesn't want to offer such subsidies, while the Minister of Industry has said the Province must offer the companies multi-million dollar incentives if it wants to compete. The Premier said meetings with the auto industry are continuing but there will be no instant or easy answers.

Robert Jackson, head of the one-man Commission on Declining Enrolment, has been in considerable trouble about his recently released interim report. In an attempt to impress upon Canadians the fact that our birth rate is steadily dropping and if the trend continues we will have to rely heavily on immigration to boost the population and the character of the country will therefore change, he made some bizarre remarks about test tube babies, paying women to have babies, and racial suicide. Chastised by a Committee of MPP's for gratuitous, insulting, thoughtless and racist statements, he gave a solemn promise not to offend again, stating "They were half-joking remarks that never should have been made." The Minister of Education said he did not agree with Mr. Jackson's comments, but will keep him on as commissioner.

Pic of the Past

Our pic of the past this week was submitted to us by the late Jack Robertson of Haliburton and shows a section of the great flood that they had in Minden in 1940. It shows part of the area where the Beaverbrook Golf Course is now located. You might notice that the water was so high at this point that the bridge was washed out.

Report from Parliament

Last Tuesday the House of Commons adjourned for the day without debate in honour of the memory of former Italian premier Aldo Moro. The popular Italian political figure was brutally murdered by terrorists of the infamous Red Brigades after he had been abducted and held prisoner for fifty-five days.

It was the first time that the House has adjourned to honour a foreign dignitary since the assassination of U.S. President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Leaders of all four parties in the House paid tribute to the slain political leader, and offered condolences to his widow and family. Prime Minister Trudeau praised the Italian government for its courage in resisting the temptation to bargain with the Red Brigade assassins for Moro's life.

Speaking for the Conservative party, Opposition Leader Joe Clark said "The meaning of this senseless act of terrorism extends well beyond Italy and indeed becomes an essential preoccupation with all of us."

Clark's warning echoes the fears of many people in Canada that we might be too lax and smug about our relative freedom from terrorist acts, and that we are just as vulnerable as any other country.

A few days ago Solicitor General J-J Blais said that there is no need for special security measures in Canada because we are so civilized and sophisticated. Columnist, Charles Lynch, answered that statement aptly when he said in his column of May 10th that "Blais may be living in a dream world."

Lynch also pointed out that when Canadian security services are successful in rooting out potential terrorists, it is the police and not the criminals who end up in the hot seat.

We cannot afford to forget that only eight years ago we had our own terrorists, and that for a period of time our civil liberties were curtailed to aid in the search and apprehension of the terrorists from the FLQ.

British diplomat James Cross and Quebec Labour Minister, Pierre Laporte, were kidnapped from their homes in 1970. Laporte was murdered by his abducters, while Cross was freed after the federal government negotiated his freedom in exchange for safe passage out of the country for his kidnappers. These kidnappers and murderers were FLQ terrorists.

We learn now that the Cross kidnappers, who were also responsible for Laporte's murder, want to return to Canada and live as freely as though they were law abiding citizens. Apparently their request has the support of the separatist premier of Quebec, Rene Levesque.

There is a lot that we can learn from our own experiences, and from the murder of Aldo Moro. We should start by admitting that we have been too soft in the past on those groups in our society who are plotting the destruction of our country and our way of life.

It has not been through blind luck and divine providence alone that we have not had any serious terrorism in Canada in the past eight years. It has been because of the vigilance of our police forces, and we should be intelligent enough and sophisticated enough to realize that we owe them our thanks and our support, not our censure. I hope that we will wake up to the dangers facing us before it is too late.

O.P.P. MEETS WITH BUSINESS

The Ontario Provincial Police Detachment at Minden, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, are providing a very important and informative program for local business people on Tuesday, June 6, at the PineStone Inn and Country Club. Merchants in particular cannot afford to miss this valuable opportunity which comes appropriately just piror to their busy season. Constable Wim Magee has arranged an agenda which will provide graphic information on shoplifting, counterfeit money, and fraudulent practices as they concern local merchants. The incidents of shoplifting in our area apparently is increasing at a phenomenal rate and the O.P.P. are prepared to help us do everything possible to bring it to a halt. With this kind of co-operation we all owe it to ourself to be sure to attend. Mark the date on your calendar now before you forget.

New Brochures at the Welcome Centre

Just in time for the first long weekend of the summer, all the new brochures arrived at the Haliburton Highlands Welcome Centre at Minden. Most of you have already seen our new Haliburton Highlands Directory, and in addition to that we have just received a new printing of the colourful Haliburton Highlands County Map which we produced for the first time last summer. The Ministry of Industry and Tourism have now shipped us a full supply of the new Traveller's Encyclopaedia, Accommodation Guide, Camping Guides, Boating Guides, and Fishing and Hunting Guides. Anyone interested in receiving copies of any of these brochures, you are invited to drop into the Welcome Centre which is now open seven days a week. We would like to once again remind all of our members to please make sure we have an adequate supply of advertising brochures for your particular business.

Boating Safety Package Available

Doug MacNamara, who will be working in our area this summer on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross fostering small craft safety, has arranged with the Chamber of Commerce to make the Red Cross Boating Safety Packages available through our office. Any family with boats will find the $2.00 cost of this safety package well worth while, particularly for their children. Included in the contents is the Department of Transport Guide to Boating, a safe boating book, and a proficiency certificate that may be awarded to children who have shown they understand the contents of these books. Anyone requiring further information on the Small Craft Safety Program may contact Doug MacNamara at the Haliburton Hockey Haven Camp, 457-2392.

The School and Business

Consideraable dialogue was given over at the recent Ontario Chamber of Commerce Convention to educational concern. Business people from all parts of the country were united in their observations that schools are presently not equipping our people well to go out into the world of business. There appears to be a widening communications gap between those within our educational system and the real world outside. Our education minister, the Hon. Thomas Wells, readily admitted that his own teenage son had no idea what course of study he wished to pursue, nor what line of work he wished to go into. It was agreed that in this highly complex world this was a difficult decision for young people to make, but it was also felt that not enough is being done to

Do you ever do one of those psychological quizzes in magazines or the Sunday paper? They're kind of fun, especially if you do them with your old man/old lady.

We do one every Sunday, although it's not a psych thing, but a straight quiz of general knowledge. And every Sunday morning, I get between 11 and 13 right out of 15, and the Old Battleaxe gets between six and nine right. There goes the rest of the Sabbath.

I try to be decent and modest about it. "It's only because I know more general news, and am about twice as smart as you dear."

She responds: "Yes, it's because you are fascinated by those stupid politicians, have time to read the news while I'm doing housework, and are stupid enough to read a lot of stupid articles and watch stupid TV shows, that you beat me." And so it goes.

But last Sunday morning, after I'd licked her 12-6 on the information quiz, she dug up another one, in a golf magazine, with little squeaks of delight and potential triumph.

It was a personality probe, and the end result was that you were supposed to discover what sort of person you were, and as a side issue, what sort of golf player this would make you. You had to be absolutely honest in your answers. And if you weren't, there was your spouse, across the way, glowering, and saying: "You aren't a bit like that."

So, with brutal honesty, we did the quiz. We'd have been far better off in church, but there you can answer the questions, hide behind the prayer book, and bellow the hymns lustily, although you be a very Old Nick underneath, and nobody knows the difference.

This was real and earnest, with no sidestepping, no hiding, no evasions. And it came out pretty well as we had expected: we are almost total opposites. I've known it for years, but my wife forlornly keeps hoping and saying that we have a lot in common.

Who needs it? The old adage says "Opposites attract." Maybe that's why we got stuck with each other, and have lived happily ever since.

Oh, we have our little differences, but beyond the things like "Drop dead!" or "I'm leaving first thing in the morning," nothing much comes of them.

Well, this quiz really spelled it out. There were 20 questions, each with three categories, and we filled them in religiously.

There were three column. Examples: 1. Dependent - Dominant - Detached. 20. Lets things happen - Makes things happen - Watches things happen.

In both of the above, I was number three, she was number two. And so it went, right down the list.

Both of us had only two or three marked in the first column. In the second and third columns we were almost diametrically opposed although there were a few overlaps.

Here's how we stacked up, if you haven't turned to the comics by now.

My old lady is: dominant, assertive, anxious, kind, extrovert of action, has enduring rapport with people, quick-tempered, irascible, talkative, active, energetic, enterprising, precise, needs people when distrubed, puts stress on doing, makes things happen.

Your humble servant, on the other hand, comes out as: detached, relaxed, calm, considerate, introverted, has extensive rapport, is gentle-tempered, reflective, reserved, cool, inhibited, restrained needs solitude when disturbed, puts stress on perceiving, watches things happen.

We agreed we were both: even-explosive in temperament; had a love of privacy; were self-assured (in most cases); were suspicious. In four out of 20, we have something in common.

Well, which of those two would you want to be stuck with for 30-odd years? My old lady comes across as a quick-tempered, aggressive, dominating bully. Which she ain't.

And I come across as a cold, bloodless piece of calf's liver, hung over the line to dry. Which I ain't.

Like all of those psychological quizzes, it's a bunch of junk. The title of my wife's category is the Triangular Type, or the Muscular Warrior. She is supposed to bully

Sport's Echoes

by Bill Davis

Well the N.H.L. playoffs are winding to a close and the calibre of hockey is definitely creating playoff suspense. This set of Stanley Cup playoffs was a foregone conclusion in most minds prior to the outset of this round. I, like most everyone else, thought the powerful Montreal Canadiens would sweep the series in no more than five games. However, we were wrong, as the ever dangerous Beentown Bruins have put some interest back in the series by coming back to tie the series at two each and forcing the series to go at least six games.

Cheevers is playing good standup goal, which is the way a good goalie is told to play; but one wonders if an when the goaltending may collapse. The Boston Bruins now have to be sentimental favorites in most peoples' minds, just by fact of their gutty attempt to stave off elimination. On the other hand, Scotty Bowman and company are probably doing some soul searching in an effort to contain the upstart Bruins.

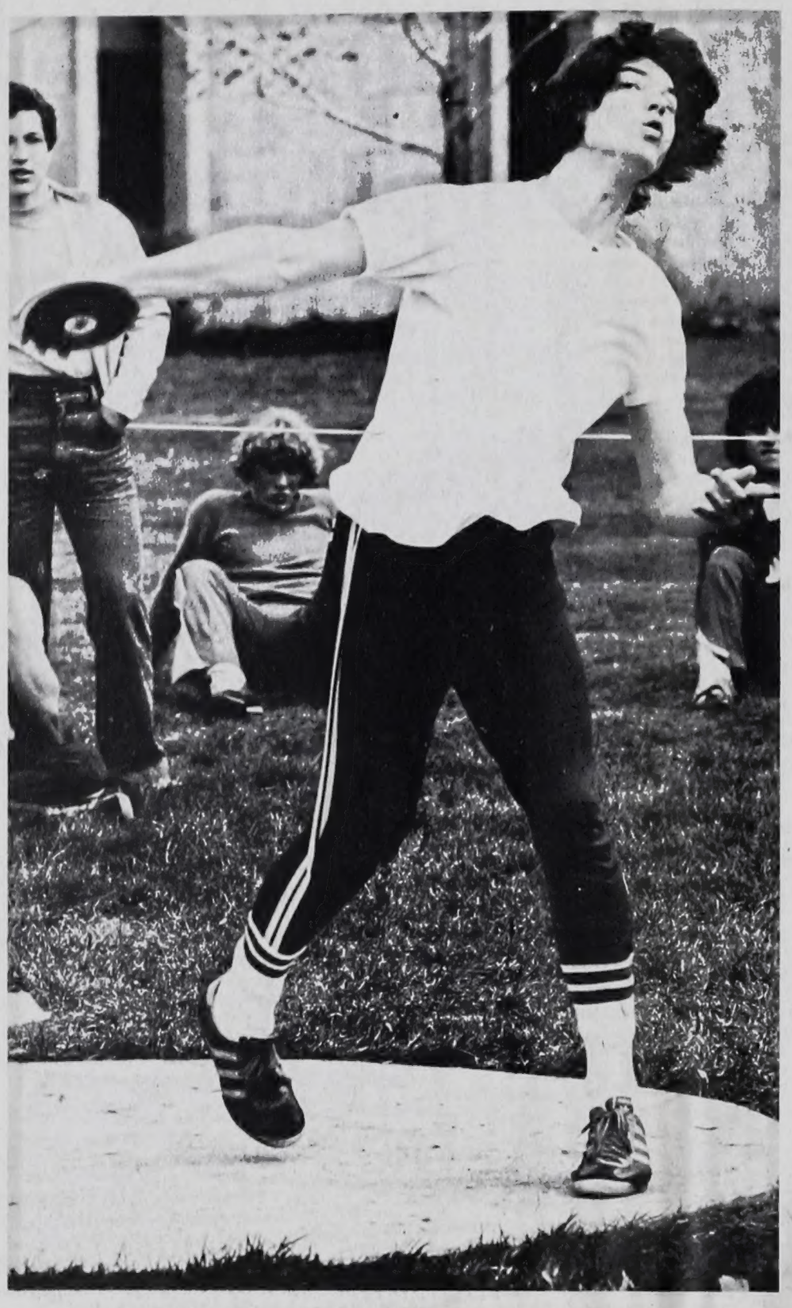
Well, the baseball season is underway for most leagues and the early games have proved that once again the fans are in for some fine entertainment this year. The senior Legionnaires have dropped their opening three games but all but one by a narrow margin.

Over the years H.H.S.S. has moulded some fine athletes in the area of track and field. This year's overall track and field team was no exception as I had the opportunity to take in the Kawartha track meet last week at Trent University. At this meet were the tops of all contestants from all secondary schools from Peterborough, Lindsay, Haliburton and surrounding areas. Haliburton did manage to send 13 individuals on to the C.O.S.S.A. in Oshawa, but to all who competed from H.H.S.S., congratulations. The calibre of competition was high and Haliburton contestant's fared well. Bob Colliver and Gary Brohman are to be congratulated on the many extra hours that were put in to maintain the calibre of competitiveness for which Haliburton is known.

Like most writers in this or any paper for that matter, I like to have a reader input - put into the paper. If anyone has a beef about anything in the area of sports, don't hesitate to bring it to this writers' attention as I am available to try to see that any wrongs that can be righted, are righted, by the responsible parties involved.

On the other hand, it is my responsiblity to commend individuals for their effort in sports and with this remark, hats off to Stan Roberts and his crew from the municipality for the effort put out last week to get the ball diamond ready for last week's home opener of the Legionnaires ball team. Despite adverse weather conditions, the ball diamond was in good shape. A job well done.

"JUST REMEMBER, EVERYONE CAN'T PLAY SPORTS, BUT EVERYONE CAN BE A SPORT.



A competitor strains to heave the discus during the Kawartha championships in Peterborough last week. H.H.S.S. athletes did very well, finishing second among 20 schools.

$67,751 budget approved for recreation in Minden

The Minden Recreation Committee has approved a 1978 budget of $67,751. The approval came at a meeting of the committee in Minden, last Wednesday.

In other business, the group decided that the rate for ice rental would be adjusted to $18 per hour. It was also decided that public skating prices would be altered to $1.25 for those over 16 years of age, and to 75 cents for children under 16.

Information was received from Frank Waters outlining the 1978 Red Cross Swimming Program. The information will be kept for future reference, the committee decided.

The committee decided to advise the Minden Figure Skating Club and Minden Minor Hockey, that the rental rate for the use of the kitchen facilities will be $50 at times when they are being used in conjunction with ice time rental. At all other times, the regular rate will apply.

A letter was received from the Haliburton Ministerial Association requesting permission to use the park area adjacent to the stock pens on October 9, 1979. The request will be referred to the municipal council.

The committee decided to employ Andrew Anderson as a student seasonal helper at a rate of $2.75 per hour.

The secretary was directed to contact both the ladies' and mens' ball teams concerning the possibility of the teams assisting the committee with the upkeep of the ball diamond.

The committee directed the secretary to advise the Minden Figure Skating Club and Minden Minor Hockey that the committee will discuss the grants for 1978-79 once financial statements from the two groups have been submitted.

Brian Sisson was authorized to obtain prices for re-phasing the arena transformer to three phase circuit and to have the repairs done at his discretion.

Baseball returns ...

Leagues formed, schedules made up

Baseball in the county is in the air once again and organizers of the various leagues are trying to put together teams.

Betty Smith, the women's baseball organizer, says that four teams will be competing this year, compared to last year's five. West Guilford has dropped out of the competition. The schedules were made up at a meeting Tuesday night.

Any boys or girls from ages 8-13, interested in playing ball this summer, are asked to call Bill Hartin at 457-1629.

Bill is the organizer this year and is trying to get the local service clubs to sponsor the teams. Time limits of one hour per game will be put on the games this year while school is still in, so the kids can get the rest they need.

Wednesday nights will feature Peewee and Atom double-headers at one of the local diamonds. Registration is free, so come on out kids.

Anyone who can help out in any way (i.e. coaches or sponsors) is asked to get in touch with either of the above people.

World champions celebrate anniversary

Who will ever forget the famous Whitby Dunlops hockey club who won the World Championship in 1958? This battling hockey club, coached by our own Wren Blair, won the championship and we can always remember Wren telling us what a thrill it was when they raised the Canadian Flag and played O'Canada. The coach and the players will never forget that historic moment.

To celebrate the occasion a Whitby Dunlop reunion is being held this coming Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28, at the PineStone Inn and Country Club at Haliburton.

It celebrates 20 years since the club defeated the Russians 4-2 on March 9, 1958 at Oslo, Norway, to win the World Title.

The players and their wives of the World Championship Club of 1958 and succeeding Senior "A" years 1958-59 and 1959-60 will be here for this "Dunnie" Reunion.

The weekend will include a golf tournament on the golf course at PineStone, a tennis tournament, a banquet Sat. night, followed by entertainment and a club dance, golf and tennis Sunday and a farewell cocktail party at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Wren Blair.

We here at The Echo join with everyone in Haliburton County in welcoming the Whitby Dunlops here and wish them a weekend of fun and entertainment. We are all proud to have them with us.

News from Extendicare

by Dr. O.W. Anderson

Monday afternoon four movies were shown. The first was a sort of preview of our coming trip to the zoo, showing the various animals in their more or less natural behaviour. The next showed ordinary Canadians going about their daily lives, and so showed nothing very unusual. The third showed the post office with its various sorting machines for letters and for parcels of all shapes and sizes. It was interesting to see how much was manual and how much machine. The machines, having terrific speed, probably saved manual labour by a factor of 100. An interesting feature emerged following the film. This was the discovery that one of our gang, Mr. Howard Mullin, a recent admission, was a postal employee before he joined us. Despite that fact, he seems to be the happiest resident among us. In connection with this it was noted, but not shown in the mo vie, that the average work period of workers in the larger offices is two and a half hours daily.

The fourth film was titled "Three Grandmothers" and depicted their homes and showed their concerns for their grown up families.

Thursday was our birthday party for all who birthdays in May, which included Ray Smith, Albert Sopher, Bert McKelvey, Mrs. Della Roberts, Mrs. Gladys Holland, Mrs. Maude West, and Mrs. May Emerson. Everyone lined up, sitting or standing at the cake, when pictures were taken. Refreshments were then brought in, the cake was cut and games began. The main game had the contestants sit on blown up toy balloons to deliberately cause them to burst with a loud bang. This released a note on which was written what the contestant must do, viz, ride a horse, mimic a donkey or sit on someone's knee. It was lots of fun. The pianist, to our singing many of the old popular songs, was Mrs. Betty Salvatori. Mrs. Judy Mann was present as a voluntary helper.

The supreme event of the week started when at about 7:00 p.m., we were loaded on a bus, kindly donated gratis by LaRue Bus Lines, and taken to "Fun Night" at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, where we were entertained by Haliburton, Minden and Carnarvon combined, in aid of the residents of both Extendicare Nursing Home and Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. It was a gala night for us, as well as for the many Hyland Crest Senior Citizens of Minden, who also attended.

In Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer's Haliburton Guild Choral Group we spied Mrs. Norma Williamson, one of Extendicare's former staff nurses, and Mrs. Dorothy Rasmussin, our night nurse. This was a splendid group, well trained and well conducted in melodious singing. The pianist was Mrs. Christine Kellett. This whole program was very ably M.C.'d by Art Ward, seemingly the old reliable.

Minden is to be congratulated in having such a harmonious brass band. No doubt very much practice is involved. Mrs. Peggy Neville and Ray Jenkins make a fine pair when it came to soloing at the piano. That was a delightful number. The Gymnastics Club were superb and second to none. Mrs. Aymong deserves much credit in grooming those girls to such excellence.

We would predict that nowhere is there any equal to the skill displayed by Mrs. Brenda Cooper in baton twirling. It was fantastic. It is presumed that square dancing is very much a tradition in the Haliburton, Minden and Carnarvon area. These young folk did very well.

The gong show exemplifies how much pure fun and capers can be derived from a purity of language. It was a delightful performance. Last but by no means least was the very versatile, Mrs. Nancy Picard, and her company. It seems that any musical instrument is a real joy to Mrs. Picard. She appears to enjoy the accordion most.

Extendicare residents wish to thank all for a wonderful evening of pleasure.

Friday morning was our devotional period, with Rev. John Smith our spiritual leader, and Mrs. Velma Smith, pianist. The theme for this service was "As long as life endures, God is with us." The voluntary helpers at the service, as well as the tea service after, were Mrs. Isabel Knapp and Mrs. Eileen Morrison. This Baptist service was very well attended, including a few guests.

Park Street has been built into a fairly good walkway, but occasionally one is brought up by a very snarly dog. It is hard to eliminate all the hazards. Wherever people live, snarly dogs will be with us, laws or no laws. Possibly soon a mulch will be put on to keep this splendid roadway in condition.

It seems everyone is mowing the grass, so Spring is really here.

Larry Anderson and Shawn Allore present the Hulbrigs with tokens of appreciation following a visit of Archie Stouffer grade 2,3,4 and 5 students to the Hulbrigs 100 year old school house last week.

Hockey banquet held

On May 5th, Wilberforce Minor Hockey held their annual banquet. Once again they had tremendous support as approximately 150 parents and players attended. Our potluck supper was a great success again this year. Wayne Rutter said grace.

Murray Agnew, the Master of Ceremonies, did a fine job as usual. Elections were then held for the new 1978-79 executive. The new executive is as follows:

Past President, Mike Oram; President, Don Meharrie; 1st Vice, Vince Billings; 2nd Vice, Tom Coughlin; 3rd Vice, Harold Sutherland; Secretary, Ann Meharrie; Treasurer, Maureen Bousfield; Chairman of Ways & Means, Flo Oram; Convenor, Honie Billings; Publicity Manager, Loretta Billings; Statistician, Ken Binskin.

Plaques were presented to our Past President, Mike Oram and Referee in Chief, Byron Bain, both of whom worked hard all year to make the hockey season a great success.

The Doug Huey Trophy for Most Valuable Player went to Greg Taylor.

Gooderham loses respected citizen

The Village of Gooderham has lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens in the passing of Allan Madill on April 27, 1978. Allan was born and lived all his life in this area.

He was born on April 6, 1893, one of twelve children of Thomas Madill and Emma Madill (nee Cassely) who resided in Monmouth Township, on what was known as the Bear Lake Road.

To establish a farm in those days required moving a lot of stones which were logically piled up to make a fence. Recollection of this stone picking was one of his earliest memories. It was also necessary to clear the land and Allan had vivid recollections of maple sugar bush being cut down to enlarge the plot of agricultural land. During the winter, as a lad, he trudged down to the school house to put on a fire, for which he received the magnificent sum of five cents per day.

At twelve years of age he was part of a lumber camp. Not being big enough to harness the horses, he was given the job of driving the team skidding logs. Coping with the environment was no problem for he soon acquired skills in woodworking, building, metal working and blacksmithing. He recalled with pride the winter when he built two complete sets of logging sleighs, including all the iron work. Even as late as 1976 when he was 83, he started up his forge and completed some necessary welding. He remembered the tall stands of pine, the sawmills and river drives in which he participated.

Eventually he entered the service of the C.N.R. He worked at various times on most of the lines of the Belleville Subdivision, until he acquired enough seniority to obtain an opening on the Gooderham line of the Irondale Bancroft & Ottawa Railway. He remained there until it was discontinued.

When he retired from the railway in 1958 his good health and pride in workmanship enabled him to continue an active life. Hunting and fishing were activities he enjoyed. For more than thirty years he has hunted with Jack Hunter at different locations.

His favourite runway in the hunting camp was affectionately known as "The Hump" which no doubt will be covered this fall and it will come as no surprise if occasionally reference is made to it as "Allan's Runway." As late as 1977 he went on a 'fly in' fishing trip to the area of Algoma Mills and nobody was surprised when he was extremely successful. He had planned to visit this same locality in the coming summer.

A few years ago he had a successful operation for a problem hip joint. Shortly after he made a plane trip to Florida. When he passed through the scanning device it indicated he was carrying metal. He was called aside and inspected but no metal was found on him, no gun, no hand grenade, no knife. To the relief of the inspector the mystery was solved when he told them that he had a metal hip joint.

He will be sadly missed by many, but especially by his wife Sophia, his daughter Audrey Prentice, and by his three surviving sons, Murray, Bob and Moss. He was predeceased by a fourth son Allan (Babe) in 1972.

His alertness, good humour and honesty will long be remembered by all those who had the privilege of sharing his company.

Haliburton Highlights

A crowd of over 125 people were on hand at the Graffiti Dance held in the Arena Auditorium at Haliburton on Saturday night last to dance to the music of the fabulous 50's. Everyone enjoyed themselves and it was all sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton with proceeds in aid of community projects.

A large number of veterans from the Midland Regiment were in Haliburton on Saturday for the annual Midland Regiment Oldboys Reunion. It rained on Saturday afternoon but this didn't stop the Midland Oldboys from holding a parade to the cenotaph and from attending a church service at St. George's Anglican Church on the same afternoon. A dinner was held Saturday night at the curling club, followed by a dance and social evening afterwards. Members of the Midland Regiment saw service in most of the major theatres of war, including Hong Kong, Italy and Europe.

The business formerly known as "Junk for Joy" which is located below Mark's Coffee Shop on Highland Street, in Haliburton, has changed its name to Paulette's Antiques and Gifts.

We understand that the Haliburton Senior Citizens Club, which meets every Thursday at the Arena Auditorium, at Haliburton, are planning some chartered bus trips for the future. One of the trips will be to Ontario Place.

"Now and Then" a musical trio consisting of Dick Stouffer, Jill Blair and Ken Hadley were a big hit when they played at the PineStone Inn and Country Club on Friday and Saturday. The same group will be back at the PineStone again this Friday and Saturday.

Saturday was so busy in Haliburton that it was practically impossible to get a parking space. There is no doubt about it, as the summer arrives something will have to be done to clear up this parking problem.

We're looking for news. Do you know of something important that's happening in Your Community, Area or Organization? We want to know about it too, because it's of interest to our readers. If you hear or see accidents, human interest stories, community events, over 90 birthdays, over 50 wedding anniversaries, etc., in Haliburton, we are interested. Just call the Haliburton County Echo at 457-1037.

Unused electrical wall outlets should be covered with a safety device, recommends St. John Ambulance. Young children have been seriously injured or even electrocuted as a result of tampering with such outlets.

We were unable to attend, but from all reports the "Festival of Fun" held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, on Thursday, May 18, should have been billed as a night of fun. Those attending told us that it was top notch entertainment with plenty of variety, with something to please everyone. It was sponsored by the Boy Scouts of Carnarvon, Haliburton and Minden.

Last week was clean-up and pick-up week at the Rotary Beach in Haliburton when municipal employees were busy painting up and getting the beach ready for the summer activities.

Gems of Truth

THE HOLY SPIRIT

WORK OF HOLY SPIRIT IN OLD TESTAMENT

Every truth in Scripture is progressive in its unfolding! This, indeed, applies to the great doctrine concerning the Holy Spirit. It is for this reason that His work among man in the Old Testament, differs greatly from the New Testament account of His work. Possibly a good way to understand the different activities of this part of the Trinity, is to discuss Him, past, present and future.

That the Holy Spirit is a part of the Godhead is disputed by many people. To some, He is but a sacred influence that seeks to direct our lives. Others, are baffled by the teaching concerning three different personalities existing in the Godhead, and yet to supposedly be Supreme Being.

Yet it remains true, that while there are three distinct Perons in the Trinity, they are but one in essence. There are not three Gods, but one. The Father, Son and Holy Ghost are but one, and only one God. Neither of the Godhead is God without the others. Each with the others is God. Their substance is one, yet at the same time, their substance is a Trinity. All this is hard to understand, and above human reason, but faith enfolds it.

When we accept this truth, it is not so hard to understand the working of the Holy Spirit, in the plan of God.

That He always was in the world as the Omnipresent One, yet came into the world on the Day of Pentecost, becomes increasingly clear as we accept the testimony of God's word.

The sharing of the work of creation is spoken of in numerous passages of Scripture. The "let us" of Gen. 1:26 can have no reference to anyone else but the third person of the Trinity, that is, the Holy Spirit. Again, in Gen. 11:7 we read, "Go to, let "us" go down, and confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech."

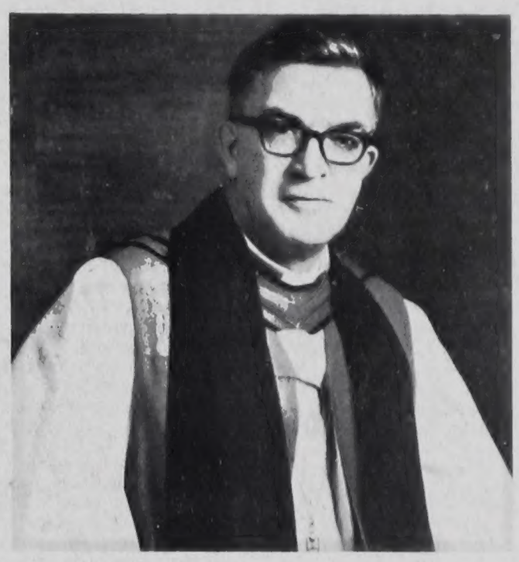
There are three things in particular, that are said about the Holy Spirit in Old Testament teaching. The first one, concerns His sharing the work of creation. As the fact of His being Omnipotent, Omniscient and Omnipresent is accepted, we can follow with ease, the great work of Creation and His part in it. Nothing was made without His help and approval. In the Genesis account, it is stated, that the Spirit of God brooded upon the deep (Gen. 1:2). Job, likewise, speaks of His work on numerous occasions (Job 26:13, 33:4).

Again, we find Him empowering men for special duty. Throughout the Old Testament, He acted in free sovereign will, coming upon certain men for a specific purpose, or period of time, then leaving them again. In this particular dispensation, prior to the first advent of Christ into this world, the Holy Spirit was here as the Omnipresent One. Notwithstanding this fact, He also acted in complete sovereignty coming upon whom He would and empowering the individual for a special work.

Such instances, we find time and time again through the Old Testament. Men, like Samson, Gideon, Jonathan and many others are recorded as doing feats impossible to man alone. The Holy Spirit was their source of strength or skill.

Another phase of the work of the Spirit, is the revelation He gave to the Old Testament prophets. The numerous prophecies and predictions made by them, concerning the coming of the Messiah, was revealed to them by the Holy Spirit. That Jesus would establish a kingdom, and reign in righteousness, is the revelation of no one else but the great Omniscient One of the Godhead.

The prfound utterances of these Old Testament prophets is indeed marvelous. The fulfillment of statements made by them, even to minutest details, can be credited to no human power. Therefore, the astonishing evidence of a supernatural mind is stronger evidence of the work of the Holy Spirit, than the great feats of strength wrought by men of the Old Testament period. [to be continued]



The Right Rev. Bishop Lewis Gainsworthy, Bishop of Toronto, will be at St. George's Anglican Church, Haliburton, Sunday, May 28, at 11:00 A.M. to conduct a confirmation service.

Next year, with a larger executive and our new arena, and earlier ice time, and the possibility of being affiliated with O.M.H.A., Wilberforce should provide us with some very competitive hockey. With your support, next year should and will be better.

Chatting with Irene

The first holiday of the summer has passed and from the number of cars on the highway, everyone was out to enjoy it. The weekend weather was very kind to the visitors, but the blackflies are out in full force. They are pesky critters and this year seem bigger than other years. As I get older they seem to like me better and I know it isn't because I'm any sweeter!

Mr. & Mrs. Garnet Coulter of Campbell River, B.C. have been visiting friends and relatives in the area for the past few weeks.

If you want to go on the W.I. bus trip next week, and haven't contacted Mrs. Annie Kernohan yet, this is your last chance to see if any seats are still vacant.

The Single Parents Group are having a meeting at Victoria St. School, in Haliburton, on Thursday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m. All single parents are invited to attend. Now some of you may think that it is just another gimmick but I have been talking to some who have been to the meetings, and they tell me it really helps to know how other single parents are coping with problems, so why don't you go to a meeting, and find out for yourself?

Mrs. Linda Adams of Gander, Nfld., whose husband is with the Armed Forces at Alert, visited with the Wm. Moores recently.

There are getting to be too many W. Moores around this area. We are going to have to have some way of identifying ourselves. The other day I got a phone call asking how soon the piglets would be old enough to get. For a moment it stunned me, as we live right in Minden where the only animals one is supposed to have are cats and dogs. Right now there are too many dogs, for unless they are tied up, you aren't supposed to even have a dog, but there sure are a lot running loose.

Mr. Gerald Coulter of Toronto; Mr. & Mrs. B. Reynolds and Sydney of Huntsville; and Mrs. Abe Upton of Utterson, were Sunday visitors with Mr. & Mrs. Angus Coulter.

Miss Marjorie Dawkins, Mrs. Lorne McCallum and Miss Lori McCallum of Lindsay, visited with Mrs. Ben Harrison last week.

The Minden & District Horticultural Society Executive and Directors are meeting at Minden Library, Monday, May 29, 7 P.M.

Everyone said how good it was to get all that rain last week; everyone, that is, except me, for even yet when I go out to the garden I get mired, don't know when it will dry up enough to plant. One thing I do know is that even with no seeds in, the weeds are sure growing.

Had a very interesting history lesson last Friday when along with a bus load of children and their teachers, Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Warder from the Minden School, visited the historic Lutterworth Union School, Section #5, 1878.

Mrs. Denzil Cox was also with the group, and gave a brief talk of what it was like when she taught in that building 34 years ago.

Mr. John Hulbig acted as commentator, pointing out the interesting items that were in use in the school in the good old days. The teachers desk on the raised platform, the seats with the old inkwell in the corner, this was of interest to the boys especially, when they were told how the girls pigtails used to be dipped in the ink when a girl sat ahead of a boy. There were the slates, textbooks, and other books of the past. Mr. Hulbig showed them how the old gramaphone still played the cylinders of yester years, one small trunk was lined with the Family Herald & Weekly Star, dated January 10, 1900. Not only are there the items of school, but many other things of the past such as flat irons, radios, churns, washers, skates, and the Hulbigs are to be complemented on saving so many of the things that to most of us are lost. Mrs. Hulbig served refreshments to the children, before they left. She was dressed in old fashioned costume.

I wonder if Lutterworth Twp. realize how lucky they are to have such a mine of history in their midst.

By the way, did you remember that on June 3 there will be a beef barbecue at the Community Centre. They tell me that this year the horseradish will be milder than last year. After the supper is over there will be films, then you can dance to the tunes of the Misty River Ramblers. All proceeds go to the County Fair. Supper will start at 6 P.M.

The Minden Women's Institute held they May meeting at the Orange Hall with 27 present. The president welcomed the ladies and the meeting proceeded as usual. The school exhibits will be judged at the school on May 24 and those winning prizes will be exhibited at the County Fair.

The District Annual is to be in Fenelon Falls on May 25, and the delegates will be attending. The bus trip to Perth, Smith Falls was discussed and tours of Kitten Mills, Hershey Plant and Cheese Factory are to be arranged if possible.

The traffic heading north this Friday afternoon reminds us the tourist season is here again. Such beautiful weather for a weekend out of the city! I enjoyed a visit with a penpal on Wednesday. Marilyn comes from Bluffton, Indiana and her husband was in Toronto for surgery, so I drove down and had a first-time real visit!

Mr. & Mrs. Ken Fralick, and Clara Schell, spent the weekend with Mr. & Mrs. Roy Peyton and family, at Manchester.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

Many of the local young people have been asking for a dance just for them. On Friday, May 26, from 8:00 P.M. to 11:00 P.M., The Ladies Auxiliary of the Firemen are sponsoring a Teen Dance in the Norland Community Hall. Admission is $1.00 and recorded music will be used for dancing. Come out and join your friends for this special evening, teens.

Please note that the Laxton, Digby, Longford council meeting has been changed from the first Tuesday of the month of June to Monday, June 12.

On Saturday, May 13, Norland Public School pupils, Paula Janke, Kelly Nicholls, Colleen Janke, Tracy Davis, Melody Nicholls, Karen and Lisa Davey, completed in the gymnastics competition at I.E. Weldon Sec. School, in Lindsay. The girls, under the supervision of Mr. J. McKechnie, had spent many hours after school practicing for this gym meet and though they did not win any prizes, our congratulations for a job well done in tough competition and better luck next time.

Still on the subject of school. Tuesday, May 16, was the Norland Home and School meeting and the principal and staff had spent some time planning an interesting evening for the parents of the students. It is certainly discouraging when so few parents turn out that the business part of the meeting had to be postponed until next fall. There were local men present to tell the audience about the newly formed Norland Athletic Club that is trying to organize baseball teams in the area and hopefully other sports later. Mr. Haugh, the school principal, is trying very hard to develop a rapport between the parents and teachers at Norland Public School but he needs the co-operation of everyone to accomplish this. Please keep this in mind when asked to attend future Home and School meetings.

On June 8, the pupils of kindergarten, grades 1 and 2, will be travelling to Bracebridge to see the Shriner's Circus and the pupils of grades 3 to 8 will be visiting the Ontario Science Centre, in Toronto, on June 12.

The Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts will be held May 26 to June 4. Lion's Hall, Coboconk, will be the centre where most of the activities will take place in this area. On Saturday, May 27, there will be a dance from 9:00 P.M. to 1:00 A.M. and on Sunday, May 28, an Interdenominational Service at 3:00 P.M. with guest speaker, D.A. Murray, Warden of Victoria County. On Monday and Tuesday, May 29 and 30, there will be exhibits and demonstrations of local handcrafts and art from 1:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M.

John Eakins, M.P.P., will officially open the Arts Festival for this area at 1:00 P.M., followed by musical selections of Islington Youth Choir at 1:30 and guest soloist, Sylvia Tyson, at 2:30 on Monday, May 29.

Haliburton man subject of story

On crisp, cold spring nights, Murray Fry "hears, feels and even tastes the life he knew as a boy growing up in the wilds of Ontario." So goes a paragraph in a story which appeared in the Fond Du Lac Michigan Reporter early last month. The story was about maple syrup making done "the old way" and the "wild of Ontario" to which its' writer referred are the "wilds" of Haliburton County.

Murray Fry, who along with his wife Dorothy, was the subject of the story, is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Lorne Fry, of Eagle Lake. Murray Fry was educated at Eagle Lake and graduated from Haliburton High School when it was in what is now the Lakeview Centre, according to his father, Lorne. In 1954, Murray went to the U.S. and joined the Marines. Following his discharge he went back to school and graduated as an electrical engineer. He has lived and worked in the Fond Du Lac Michigan area for the past 17 years.

In 1977, the Frys bought an 18 acre piece of land that included a hard maple bush, and decided to tap the bush for maple syrup. "We moved here because we wanted to experience some of the things our ancestors probably experienced" the story quotes Dorothy Fry as saying. "We wanted the kids (Rosie, 20; Renee, 14; Mark, 13; Gina, 9; and Mike, 5) to have some idea of how things were done a long time ago and what it's like to be in the woods and be independent."

The story goes on to detail the process of tapping and boiling which yields the maple syrup.

"The sap swells in a foamy froth to the lip of the cauldron then subsides as a cooling ladle of sap is added," the story concludes. "That's just the way Murray Fry did it when he was a kid growing up in Ontario and it is something you never forget once you've had the pleasure."

Buying "The Works" may be the easiest decision you make when you buy your car.

Luxury cars. Mid-size. Wagons. After you decide on the size of your new car, you must then decide on a wide choice of options. All of these decisions are important and you should take the time to think about them. But one option you can feel most secure about is THE WORKS. That's what we call Mechanical Repair Protection because it protects you against unexpected mechanical repair bills for the major working parts of your car.

What exactly does it cover?
THE WORKS covers parts and labour, subject to a $25 deductible, for replacing major parts of the car's engine, transmission, drive axle, steering, brakes, electrical system, and factory-installed air conditioning, when required due to mechanical breakdown, except when covered by the manufacturer's warranty.

How long is this protection good for?
For new cars, Mechanical Repair Protection is good on all items mentioned above for the first 36 months or 60,000 kilometres (36,000 miles)–whichever comes first. On eligible used cars, the same coverage applies from the date of purchase for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

I need my car everyday. What happens if it's in the shop overnight?
The coverage gives you up to $10 a day toward a rental car of your choice for a maximum of $50. The repairs must be a result of mechanical breakdown on any part covered in the agreement. This reimbursement applies from the first day you own the car.

Will I pay the bill from the Service Department at the dealership?
Not for the specific parts and labour covered under THE WORKS except for the $25 deductible. The bill goes directly from the repair dealer's Service Department to Motors Insurance Corporation–the insurance people from General Motors who back your plan. You just pay the small deductible and get your car—repaired and ready to go.

I'm almost convinced. But what will it cost?
Not nearly as much as you might think. For example, on new Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs, the cost of protection varies from $129 to $180 depending on the make and model. But don't forget–that's protection for 36 months or 60,000 kilometres (36,000 miles), whichever comes first.

You've sold me. But am I covered on trips around the country?
Definitely. If anything covered in the plan goes wrong with your car, just drive into any GM dealer in Canada or the U.S.A. Everything will be looked after just the same as it would be at home.
For full details on Mechanical Repair Protection, THE WORKS, see your participating GM Dealer.

Trent system remains closed

As was mentioned in this newsletter last week, navigation was to open on Wednesday, May 17, 1978. Rainfall of 55 mm in the ten days May 8 to 17, which has overfilled most reservoir lakes as well as the Kawarthas, has prevented opening of the locks. Flows through Peterborough on the Trent River section now average 10,000 cubic feet per second (cfs), far beyond the 4,000 cfs which is the limit for safe boating in the river reaches. Some marker buoys have become submerged and dangerous cross currents are occurring at lock entrances.

In response to representations from the Haliburton Water Levels Committee we had attempted this spring to hold more water from the snowmelt runoff. This approach appeared to present no problems until the rain began. With no further storage remaining unfilled, many reservoir lakes exceeded their normal full level before they could be brought under control. At this writing flows in the Gull River have reached 1,330 cfs and the Burnt River flow at 2,770 cfs was down from a peak of 2,970 on May 18. Peaks from the snowmelt had been 1,080 cfs on the Gull and 3,450 on the Burnt about four weeks ago.

Reservoir storage shot up from 97.5 per cent last Thursday to 102 per cent on Monday, May 15. By May 18 the storage stood at 100 per cent after the removal of many stoplogs.

Kawartha Lake levels are generally higher than summer levels and control dams at Lindsay (controlling Scugog Lake) and Buckhorn (controlling Chemong, Buckhorn, Pigeon and Bald Lakes) have all their stoplogs removed to pass the excess water as quickly as possible.

Lock stations from Rosedale to Gambridge are operating, but the Severn River section below Lake Couchiching is closed with a flow of 4,500 cfs in the river there.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching is also overfilled and the control structures at the outlet are discharging near capacity.

Work is progressing smoothly on the new marine railway at Big Chute. The finishing touches are being done to the car with the hope of beginning to do some testing on various parts of the equipment by the end of the month.

Once these are complete, further tests can then begin on the actual operation of the car. It is expected that the testing and adjusting will carry on until mid summer, before it can be used to transport boats over the Chute.

Boaters should not depend on the new car operating continually once it does become operational. Due to its unique design, there could be periods when the car is not operating so adjustments and problem areas can be worked on.

The old marine railway will be used as a back-up system and will be used when the new car is not operating

WEATHER

The weather is everyone's favourite topic of conversation, so we'll make a comment in this week's column.

The cool weather of late April delayed the start of field work in all parts of Ontario.

By the end of April, farmers were generally on the land in Victoria County and a lot of spring grain and some corn was seeded the first week in May.

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Margaret Pickens of Gooderham:

The drum of a grouse at midnight,
The whip-poor-will's low chuck,
The shriek of a lynx in the darkness,
The whistle of a buck,
Or the gurgling sound of the tree-toad
From the limb of a nearby tree,
May not be music to some of you
But it's music, folks, to me!

The great horned owl, on his perch,
Hoo-hooing from the swale;
The grunting of a porcupine
As he waddles up a trail;
The yap of a fox from the hillside,
The loon's long drawn-out cry,
May not be music to folks like you
But it's music to such as I.

Beethoven was a master
At arranging notes to please,
But, a Master far above him
Makes His music just for me.
The whispering in the tree-tops,
The soughing in the pines,
The rustling of the autumn leaves
When they are dead and dry;
Nature's woodland calls of night
And a voice in every tree....
This may not sound like music
But it's music, folks, to me!

The above poem was taken from a book of poems called "Tales of the Trail" written by Theodore Peacock.

The residents of Glamorgan are privileged to call Theo a good neighbour and friend.

In 1974 when the Glamorgan Council decided to publish the book as a Centennial Project, Theo very generously donated the profits of the book to the Glamorgan Library. It is his hope that through the Library the people would develop a greater respect for their natural surroundings.

Since the book has been published, the Library has received three donations from Theo, the most recent for $1,000. which the Committee accepted with gratitude.

The old saying that money isn't everything holds true in this case. Although the money is deeply appreciated and allows the Committee to consider projects that otherwise would be impossible, the real treasure is the book itself which gives the reader a great deal of pleasure and a better understanding and appreciation of this wonderful part of the country we live in.

Monmouth to vote on liquor

Monmouth voters will be asked to decide if they want to allow the sale of liquor on a licenced premises. At a special meeting May 9, Monmouth Township council passed a resolution to submit the issue of selling beer, wine and spirits under a lounge license for consumption on the licensed premises, to a vote.

Council also decided that the plebiscite on the matter should be held August 12, instead of at municipal election time in November, because approximately 65 per cent of the eligible voters are seasonal residents.

At a special meeting May 15, which was attended by a representative of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, Monmouth Township council opened tenders for a truck and for gravel.

A tender for gravel from Don Herbert Sand and Gravel at a price of $3.57 per cubic yard, was accepted.

There was no report of a tender for the truck being opened or accepted.

Graham Neville was the fast talking MC for the mini gong show at the annual Boy Scout fun night in Haliburton Thursday evening.

Peggy Neville made a short lived try at opera singing during the mini gang show at the Boy Scout fun night last Thursday in Haliburton. She was gonged.

Various acts featured

Boy Scouts hold festival

The setting may not have been quite as elaborate, but in just about every other way, Haliburton's own version of the "Gong Show" was a match for the television original. The local version of the "Gong Show" was just one of the many featured acts which entertained a large crowd at the annual Boy Scout "Festival of Fun" Thursday night at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Proceeds of the evening went to Extendicare and to the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. Residents of both were in attendance for the show, and all seemed delighted with the evening of fun and music making.

The program began with a welcome to the audience from the Beavers, youngest members of the scouting organization, and the newest scouting group in Haliburton.

Opening act was the Haliburton Guild Choral Society under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer. They were followed by Ted Scott, who played a number of guitar selections.

The Minden Brass Band then took over the stage of the gymnasium to stir up the audience with some rousing tunes. Singing followed, with solos by Mrs. Peggy Neville and duets by Linda and Carol Sheckleton.

Following an intermission, a number of youngsters, students of Mrs. Aymong, took to the floor for an impressive display of gymnastic skills.

Baton twirling was next on the program, as students of Mrs. Brenda Cooper displayed their talents.

Old time fiddle music and the precision of square dancing had many an audience member's toe tapping following the baton twirlers' display.

Earl and Sid Cooper on violins and Jack Neville on piano provided the music for the eight dancers whose enthusiasm for the caller's signals brought back pleasant memories for many of the older members of the audience.

The mini Gong Show followed, and it included Graham Neville, an MC who had the mannerism of Chuck Berris down pat, an opera singer, a vaudeville type comedy team, a "Newfie" sailor complete with boat and oilskins, punk rock singers, and three blindfolded singers whose act, much to their surprise, concluded when whipped cream pies were added to the music. Needless to say, the audience was at least as amused as the three who got a taste of the pies.

The evening concluded with accordion music played by Mrs. Nancy Picard, who urged the audience to sing along.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Art Ward.

Farm news and views

Rains the second week of May, along with some warmer temperatures were welcomed, to get hay and pasture fields growing, thus allowing cattle to be turned out of their winter quarters.

Unfortunately, last week the weatherman was unable to get the rain shut off, so farmers spent the week looking at muddy fields, some of them flooded almost as badly as they were earlier during the spring thaw.

There are two major cropping concerns in this area now.

The first one has to do with corn varieties. Many farmers have been lucky for the past two years, growing corn varieties which require one to two hundred more heat units than we usually receive. With late frosts in the fall, they got mature corn. However, the lateness of planting now this spring, makes the sowing of these varieties even more risky.

An early corn variety should be seriously considered by any farmer who doesnt have his corn sown yet.

The second concern is disease in late seeded cereal crops. In 1976, a considerable acreage of oats and barley in Victoria County was affected by the Yellow Dwarf Virus. With early seeding last year, there was almost no damage from this disease. It's too early to know if it will cause problems in '78, however, the later these grains are sown, the more susceptible they are.

So, we'll hope the weather is warm and dry for several days in a row to enable farmers in the area to finish seeding their spring crops.

Rated ninth in the world, Bugle corps practiced at Minden

Rifles twirl as the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps practice in Minden. The group is among the best in the world, and has been staying at an area camp recently.

Don't ever call the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps, a marching band - the members are liable to feel insulted.

"They get very angry if anybody ever calls them a "marching band." There's a big difference," says Mike Grimes, publicity manager and assistant drum major for the band.

The Corps had been practicing at the Minden Elementary School in preparation for a summer tour around North America. They work out of Toronto and compete in various drum and bugle corps competitions throughout the continent.

Grimes says the final competition is at the Drum Corps International Competition in Denver, Colorado. This is where bands come from all over North America and the world to compete in an international contest.

The Corps has won both the Ontario Provincial and Canadian championships in past years.

"Our Corps is ranked ninth in the world," Grimes aid, adding that the majority of the bands at the competition are from North America.

"Most of the good corps come from Canada and the United States. There aren't that many in Europe who can compete with us," says Grimes.

The corps is sponsored by Seneca College in Toronto and was formed on February of 1976 when the Seneca Princemen merged with the Toronto Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps to form the present corps.

Most of the members of the corps are between the ages of 14 and 21 and many are still in school.

"We practice on weekends when school is still in. When the summer comes along, we begin our tour of the continent and practice a lot," says Grimes.

Practice, he says, consumes a large portion of the Corps member's time, and rarely is there a moment of leisure. They practice 16 hours a day with a half hour break for lunch. But, Grimes says that "there is time for the occasional party or dance."

Members give up jobs, friends and family just to be in the band, but many do not mind since there are nearly 130 persons in the Corps.

"It's like one big happy family," says Grimes.

The Corps left Minden, Monday night, for Peterborough, where they played at a high school concert. Their first competition will be at Kitchener on June 11 and from there, the Corp's North Amercia tour will begin

Drummers of the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps, concentrate on the beat as they rehearse for the upcoming world championships in Denver, Colorado.

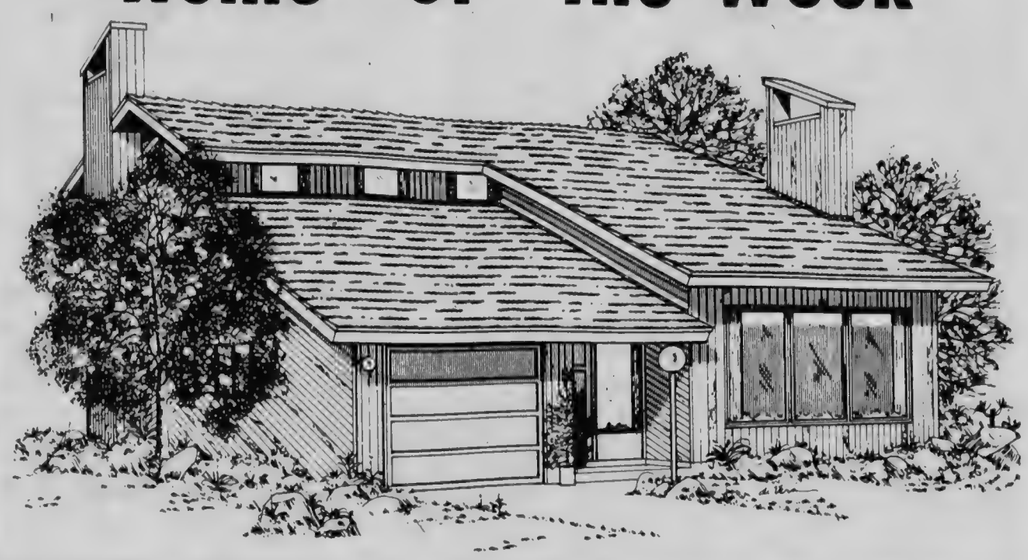
Home of the Week



Plan Number: 78-1819B:

This one-and-one-half storey contemporary design has three bedrooms and a full basement for the family which requires space for storage or expansion and is ideally suited to the narrow frontage urban lot.

The exterior presents a pleasingly modern low profile, finished in mixed vertical and diagonal siding, charmingly rustic cedar shake roof and twin chimneys to accommodate the energy-efficient fireplaces. The roof overhang provides a weather-recessed entrance from either the garage or afoot.

The entrance foyer leads naturally right, into the long living-dining room combination, which features large front window for excellent natural lighting and an up-to-the-minute, energy-efficient fireplace, for cozy and convivial entertainment evenings. The dining room separates from the kitchen via pocket door for division of casual family meals and formal dining.

The large family room and nook combination possesses a second energy-efficient fireplace, and connects to the rear patio via sliding glass doors. The extended and U-shaped kitchen is planned for economy of motion and effort and divides from the nook via snack bar counter.

A utility room, laundry and vanity bath is conveniently connected to the family room via pocket door and has access to the single garage, allowing it to serve as a mud room.

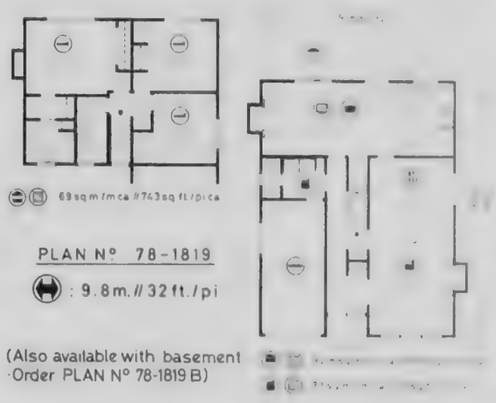
All three bedrooms are located upstairs and have generous closet storage and excellent natural light. The large master bedroom has a three-piece ensuite with tub and double closets, one of which is a walk-in.

This design derives maximum usage from the space which it contains in a logical and appealing package. The optional basement allows abundant space for the future development of additional living room or recreational facilities. The electric heating and double fireplaces are a logical response to the need for energy conservation.

Plans for design No. 78-1819B may be purchased either by single set, at a cost of $70.00 for the first set and $10.00 for each additional set, or by the package. A five-set plan package, including the first set, is economically priced at $100. and an eight-set package, also including the first set, is only $125.

Whichever method you choose, please include $4.00 for postage and handling. B.C. residents add 5 per cent sales tax.

Send for the current edition of Select Home Designs, Series #36, featuring imaginative decorating and home improvement ideas, plus 350 quality home plans of every type. Available for $2.25 ($1.75 plus 50 cents postage and handling.)



To order any of these items, please send cheque or money order payable to the Home of the Week. Address to: Home of the Week, c/o The Haliburton County Echo and Minden Recorder, 382 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C. V5Y 1R2.

My category is called the Linear Type, or the Loner. I'm supposed to be a solitary, not wanting confrontation, and even want to go out and play twilight golf by myself. Ridiculous. I wouldn't walk across the street to play nine holes of golf by myself. One of us might win.

The only thing we found out from the quiz was that we both should have been in the first column, called the Circular, the happy extrovert who enjoys golf and plays an excellent game.

Scott pleased over grant

Bill Scott, M.P. Victoria-Haliburton, was pleased to learn recently that a New Horizons Program grant in the amount of some $8,000 had been granted to a group of senior citizens in the community of Coboconk.

The "Committee of Creative Arts" headed by President, Dug Merrett, of R.R. 2, Burnt River, are attempting to develop greater interest and participation in the Victoria County choral, craft and drama activities for senior citizens. As well as regular activities, members will put on plays, give concerts and have craft displays and demonstrations during the upcoming "Festival of the Arts."

The New Horizons program is an ongoing project of the Ministry of Health and Welfare, aimed at assisting senior citizen clubs across Canada.

IN MEMORIAM

COWAN, Valerie - In loving memory of our daughter Valerie who left us so suddenly on May 23, 1971.
As long as we live, we will cherish her name,
In memory we see her ever the same,
Still in our hears she's living yet,
For we loved her too dearly to ever forget,
A beautiful memory, dearer than gold,
Of a daughter whose worth can never be told,
Alive and unseen she stands by our side,
And whispers, don't grieve, death cannot divide.

Lovingly remembered Mom and Dad.

COWAN, Valerie - In loving memory of our sister Valerie who passed away May 23, 1971.
To us she was someone special,
Someone set apart,
Her memory will live forever,
Engraved within our hearts.

Sadly missed by sister Kendra, brothers David and Jim.

FADER, Verle - In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, Verle Fader, who passed away on Mey 29, 1968.
Our thoughts are ever with you,
Though you have passed away,
And those who loved you dearly,
Are thinking of you today.

Ever remembered by his Wife, Winnie, and Family.

MAUGHAN, William - In loving memory of a dear Father, who passed away May 29, 1972.

IN MEMORIAM

He left us quietly, his thoughts unknown,
But left us a memory we are proud to own,
So treasure him Lord in your garden of rest,
For when on Earth he was one of the best.

Lovingly remembered and never forgotten, by daughter Margaret, and son-in-law Walker, and grandchildren.

MAUGHAN - In loving memory of our dear Father, John, who passed away on May 25, 1977.
He bade no one his last farewell,
He said good-by to none,
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving Voice said, "Come"
We often sit and think of you
The things you used to say;
We wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say good-by.
Though out of sight, you're ever
Still missed, loved, still ours;
You will live with us in memory
Until the end of time.

Sadly missed by all his children, Leonard, Sharon, Miles, Nancy and Susan.

MAUGHAN, in loving memory of a dear husband, John, who passed away on May 25, 1977.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand I cannot touch,
Still I have so many memories
Of the one I loved so much.
His memory is my keepsake,
With which I'll never part;
God has him in his keeping,
I have him in my heart.

Lovingly remembered by his Wife, Violet.

familiarize young people with various vocations in order that they may make intelligent decisions in this regard. Hopefully from these discussions some working relationships will evolve between business and the education sectors to improve on this situation. Here in Haliburton the problem runs even deeper in that training for a great many vocations does not qualify the student to gainful employment here in our county due to our lack of industry. On the other hand what are we doing to best train those students with no intention of ever leaving this community to best make a living in it.

AND MINDEN RECORDER

Vol. 96 | No. 40 | "The voice of the Highlands" | Wednesday, May 24, 1978 | 18 Pages | 20 cents

Lockout ends as settlement is reached

The dispute between Haliburton County and its roads department employees ended Thursday night when the union rank and file ratified an agreement hammered out by the County's negotiating committee and CUPE representative, Harold Wrightman earlier in the evening.

Chairman of the negotiating committee, Murray Fearrey, said Tuesday that the total wage package the two sides agreed on represents the same dollar cost to the taxpayer as did the original county offer worked out at concilliation meetings in April.

An across-the-board raise, which had been the main point in the union's stand in the dispute, was not realized, Fearrey said. However, he said, there was a shift of two or three cents per hour in the county's offer. Originally, the county had offered a wage and benefit package ranging from 22 to 30 cents per hour. The offer was re-adjusted at top and bottom to result in wage increases ranging from 24 to 27 cents per hour for the 15 employees of the County Roads Department, who are members of local 1960 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Both sides were satisfied with the agreement worked out at the Thursday meeting, Fearrey said.

The road workers were back on the job Friday, ending the three week lockout.

Missing girl found after search with aircraft, civilians

An 18-year-old girl, from Mississauga, who had been missing for two and a half days in the Head Lake area near Coboconk, was found Monday night after an intensive search by civilians, policemen and Armed Forces personnel.

A spokesman from the OPP detachment in Coboconk said that Beverley Patricia Sims told her parents Saturday that she was going for a walk from the trailer where the Sims had been staying. A search was initiated when she failed to return.

Aircraft from the Canadian Armed Forces rescue centre in Trenton were called in to patrol the area in which Sims was believed lost. A ground search, consisting of civilians and police with bloodhounds, was used to help track Sims down.

She was found at about 6:45 P.M., Monday, walking east on Highway 503, by three civilians who were assisting in the search. Apparently, Sims had hiked into the bush and had lost her way.

"I guess there were a lot of people looking for me," admitted Sims.

She was brought into Ross Memorial Hospital for observation and was released on Tuesday afternoon.

"There's nothing wrong with me except exhaustion and hunger," she said Tuesday.

Man injured, charges laid after fight in area hotel

One man was charged and another was taken to hospital following a fight at the Rockcliffe Hotel in Minden early Saturday morning.

Minden OPP say Gordon Graham, 19, of Rexdale, was charged with assault causing bodily harm following an incident in which he is alleged to have kicked a chair out from under a Stephen O'Brien, and to have punched him when he got up.

O'Brien was treated at Minden Red Cross Hospital for cuts around one of his eyes.

It was close, but this high flying student just managed to make it over a pyramid of fellow students at Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School last Wednesday night. Those in the pyramid made it a little easier for her by collapsing at just the right moment. The action took place during one of the displays at the school's annual activity night. More than 300 parents attended.

Damage estimated at $13,800

Nine injured in area crashes

Nine people were injured, three of them seriously, as a heavy volume of traffic over the holiday weekend resulted in a rash of accidents. Minden OPP report that a total of 16 motor vehicle accidents had been investigated by Monday afternoon.

A Burke's Falls man was taken to Minden hospital suffering a cut eye, following a single vehicle mishap last Tuesday. Minden OPP say Bill J. Peters, 22, was injured when the dump truck he was driving rolled over. Peters was southbound on Lutterworth Township Road and turning left when the mishap occurred. Damage was estimated at $2,000. Peters was charged with failing to wear a seatbelt assembly.

A Don Mills woman suffered major injuries and was taken to hospital in Lindsay when the van she was driving left the road and struck a rock cut. Anne S. Egan, 34, was eastbound on Highway 503 when the 1969 van she was driving caught the shoulder of the road and entered the south ditch. A passenger in the vehicle, Michael Egan, age 8, suffered minor injuries. Damage to the van was estimated at $4,000.

OPP say charges are pending.

Two Oshawa men suffered minor injuries in another single vehicle mishap Friday night.

John A. Johnson, 23, and Jon Beers, 19, were injured when their car left Highway 530 in the Maple Lake area. Minden OPP say Johnson lost control of his vehicle near a curve. The car entered a ditch, striking a number of logs and a rocky mound of earth. Damage to the car was estimated at $4,000. Johnson was charged with careless driving.

A charge of careless driving was also laid against a Bancroft man as a result of a crash last Tuesday. James C. Bruce, 47, of R.R. 1, Bancroft was eastbound on Highway 503 at 1:30 A.M. when he lost control of his 1973 car and it entered the north ditch. Bruce was slightly injured. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,800.

A Highland Creek man was seriously injured in a single vehicle accident on Highway 35 south of Minden early Saturday morning. Thomas Driver, 18, was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay following the crash of a 1954 pick-up truck.

Minden OPP say Driver was northbound on Highway 35 when he lost control of the truck. It entered the west ditch and rolled over several times. Two other passengers in the truck suffered minor injuries.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $2,000. OPP say charges are pending in the case.

Sewage systems are substandard, survey finds

One hundred and sixty private sewage disposal systems on Paudash Lake in Cardiff Township were found to be "seriously substandard during inspections last summer according to a report released this week by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment. Of 364 systems inspected, only 66 were found to be satisfactory, or to be working satisfactorily by staff of the Municipal and Private Abatement section of the Ministry, who conducted the survey.

In addition to the 160 systems judged substandard, 46 were judged as "nuisances" in that wash water was discharged onto the surface of the ground, and a further 70 were found to discharge fecal and urinary matter onto the ground surface. Three systems on Paudash Lake were judged to be direct polluters, meaning that the systems allowed sewage to contaminate ground water or to reach the lake either by direct discharge, or through a pipe or ditch, or over the ground surface.

The "satisfactory", or "satisfactory (acceptable)" classifications mean that systems are properly located and well maintained, though an "acceptable" designation means the system may not quite meet current design and construction standards.

A seriously substandard classification means a system does not meet current design, construction and location standards, though such a system is not deemed to be causing pollution at the time of inspection.

As of December 31, 1977, 97 of the faulty systems had been corrected, the Ministry report says. In addition, 23 owners have signed agreements to have corrective work completed during the construction season of this year. The remainder of the cottage owners were notified of their problem by letter from the Ministry, and environmental officers are attempting to obtain direct commitments from these owners, the report says.

Adequate disposal of sewage is a problem in Haliburton County, as it is in other cottage areas, because there is usually too little soil over the bedrock to permit an adequate subsurface disposal system, the Ministry report says. In some cases, this inadequacy can be remedied by placing a suitable filter material over a sufficient area, or by the use of a holding tank. However, the report says, disposal sites for holding tank contents are "rapidly nearing capacity" which may "result in restricting the use of holding tanks." Aerobic sewage treatment systems are also considered an adequate alternative in some cases, the Ministry report says.

Micro-organisms which exist in lakes can be classified under two general headings, according to the Ministry; naturally occurring bacteria, and disease causing micro-organisms called "pathogens" which have the capacity to infect human tissue. "Pathogens are generally introduced into the aquatic environment by raw or inadequately treated sewage, although a few are found in the soil" the report says. These bacteria do not change the appearance of the water, but "cause an immediate public health hazard if the water is used for drinking or swimming."

The cottage Pollution Control Program, under which the Paudash Lake survey was conducted, was begun in 1970, and has continued each year since on various lakes

High speed chase ends in crash, charge

A number of charges were laid against a West Hill man following a high speed chase in the Minden area early Saturday morning.

Minden OPP say a vehicle squealed its tires in Minden at about 5 A.M., then left the village on Deep Bay Road, pursued by a Minden OPP cruiser.

A cruiser from the Coboconk detachment was notified of the pursuit and stood by several miles down the road.

Speeds of over 80 miles per hour were reached during the pursuit, OPP say. Approximately eight miles from the village, the vehicle went out of control and struck a rock cut. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $150.

Wray Martin, 24, of West Hill, driver of the car, was charged with obstructing a police officer, dangerous driving, impaired driving, driving with blood alcohol over .08, and with having liquor readily accessible.

Sharon Morrisette got a taste of a whip cream filled pie Thursday night at the annual Haliburton County Boy Scout fun night at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The scene took place during a mini gong show which was one of the highlights of the evening of entertainment.

Student hired

Social council to complete survey

The Haliburton County Social Planning Council has hired a student for the summer to assist the council in the planning of Chronic Care and to update the Directory of Community Services.

Lori Brown, a resident of Minden, will be sponsored by the province's Experience '78 program and will work for the council over the summer.

Dave Woodall, chairman of the council, said "there is no social services agency within the county, and no system to gather and correlate the information on Chronic Care. Lori will be able to accomplish this task...and update the Community Directory as well.

Woodall says that if volunteers and working professionals were hired to gather all the information required for the project, it would take over a year. By then, much of the data would be inconsistent.

By having one person collect the data over a relatively short period, working full time, says Woodall, much of the collected data will be valid by the time it is circulated.

"Lori will also be required to report to the Council's Chronic Care Committee," says Woodall. Brown will be expected to prepare reports for the council so her progress can be watched.

If the two objectives are met, Brown will then assist the committee in developing a proposal to improve lacking services in the county.

"There's just no way that any regular staff member or any part-time volunteer will be able to do this. We lack both the expertise and the time to get all the facts about the services. Lori can give us some suggestions as to which directions the council should go."

Brown has a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Guelph and graduated with an honours diploma from Haliburton High School in 1975. In the summer of 1975, she worked for the County Board of Education and wrote a history of the county. In the summers of 1976/77, she again worked under the 'Experience' program and worked for the county's public library system.

Five had applied for the program, but two were high school students and were not eligible for the 'Experience' program.

Brown will work out of the Haliburton County Registry Office.

Area students receive diplomas at convocation

A number of Haliburton County residents were among those who received diplomas when Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough held its spring convocation ceremonies, Saturday, May 15.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Flora MacDonald, Conservative MP for Kingston and the Islands.

Area graduates receiving diplomas at the convocation were: William Peter Jackson of Minden, three year diploma in Business Administration; Vera Lynn Barnhardt of Carnarvon, one year certif-

Ski Club request denied

Ministry upholds decision

The Ministry of Natural Resources has decided to uphold the decision of Dysart et al council on the request from the King Ski Club for the use of part of Green Lake near West Guilford.

At its regular meeting, May 8, council heard a delegation from the club, which sought permission to place a ski jump and slalom course on the 285 acre lake.

The King Ski Club had placed the jump and course on the lake previously, but it was ordered removed by the Ministry, which has jurisdiction over the lake surfaces throughout the county. The order for removal of the jump came in the wake of concern about the environmental impact of the jump on such a small lake.

Following the King Ski Clubs presentation, May 8, council retired to committee of the whole, and returned with a resolution saying that the use of a part of the lake, by one group, was not in keeping with council's belief that lakes should be available for use equally by everyone.

A final decision on the matter rested with the Ministry, however, which could have gone against the Dysart council decision.

Fish and wildlife supervisor, Steeve Toole, said Tuesday that the King Club will be notified in writing of the Ministry's decision.

Chamber wants 121 renumbered

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce thinks highway numbers in the county can be confusing, and is urging its members to tell the provincial government about it.

A recent newsletter from the Chamber to its members, notes that "a number of members have expressed their concern about the continuous confusion caused by Highway 121, which actually intersects Highway 35 three times." The Chamber says visitors to the county often find it difficult to follow directions as a result, and sometimes end up miles out of their way.

To end the confusion, the Chamber is suggesting that highway numbers on the section from south of Minden to Fenelon Falls, and on the section from just north of Minden to Bancroft, should be different. The Chamber proposes that one of the two sections should be re-designated Highway 123.

The Chamber newsletter urges that anyone who either agrees with the suggestion or

Haliburton makes the Sun

The Village of Haliburton has made it to the pages of the Toronto Sun. Thursday, a column entitled Town and County Trips, written by Harvey Currell, featured Haliburton, and the historic Reid House in particular. The following is the text of the Toronto Sun article.

In 1884, the hamlet of Haliburton was still a pioneer backwoods community, surrounded by forest and largely dependent on lumbering for its existence. A railway had reached the settlement six years before, but to most Ontario residents, Haliburton still seemed a long way from nowhere.

It was in 1884 that a man named John Reid built a two-storey wooden home for his family in Haliburton. Mr. Reid was a carpenter and cabinet-maker among other things, so he included a shed to house a carpenter shop when he built his home. He also served part-time as the Haliburton village constable. A heavy wooden club, symbol of this office, hung on a nail inside the front door so he could grab it quickly when summoned to break up a lumberjack brawl.

John Reid, like to good workman he was, built his house solidly. It's still standing in Haliburton village and now serves as the local museum. It's full of pictures, tools and other things that give a fairly good impression of what life must have been like when Haliburton was starting to emerge from the backwoods period.

The house is still on its original site, on Park Street, but won't be for very long. The local township council is creating a new 200-acre park on what used to be a clergy reserve lot just across Head Lake from the village. It will include a handsome new museum building. The old Reid house will also be moved to the new location and will continue to be open to the public.

If you'd like to have a look at the Reid house on its original site and browse through the hundreds of interesting exhibits in it, you should do so this summer. The house-moving is planned for early fall.

Exhibits in the house and backyard shed give many interesting insights into the life and attitudes of the 1880's, 90's and early 1900's. There's a big crock, for instance, that was used to dispense "Radium Water" or radioactive water, found in a nearby mine. In those days, far from being recognized as deadly, some radioactive products were sold and used as patent medicines.

There are two old gramaphones with huge flower-like horns, that were considered the last word in home entertainment in the early 1900's.

Outers trip teaches sharing, group effort

Mary Darby and Brent Devolin share a little companionship around a fire during the H.H.S.S. Outers annual five day canoe trip in Algonquin Park.

The packs were heavy and the rain fell for three days in a row, but despite those hardships, 16 Haliburton Highlands Secondary School students emerged fit, if a little tired, after a five day canoe trip in Algonquin Park, May 12 through May 16. It was the sixth year in succession that students have ventured on a five day trip.

The canoe trip is more than a holiday for the students. It's also a chance to experience outdoor living, and to escape, if only for a few days, the conveniences of daily living.

Kit Koehler, a teacher at H.H.S.S., who has organized Outers trips for the last six years, says the experience is more than just a canoe trip. "It's working together as a group and with a group."

The 16 students on the trip included three from grade 9, three from grade 10, three from grade 11, six from grade 12, and one from grade 13.

In addition to Kit Koehler, the group was supervised by Gary Kenney, husband of an H.H.S.S. teacher. Kenney has accompanied Outers on two previous trips.

Groups are taken out for two and three day trips in the fall, and younger students are encouraged to try one of these shorter trips before venturing on the more demanding five day trip in the spring, Koehler says.

Gary Kenney, who helped supervise the Outers trip, crosses a log bridge on the portage into Harmen Lake. There were a total of 12 portages on the 25 mile route of the trip.

"It's working together as a group and with a group."

Laura Letourneau took a few minutes to rest on her pack at the end of a long portage. There were a total of twelve portages on the five day trip.

The group travelled in six canoes, one of which was purchased by the Haliburton Board of Education and two of which were purchased by the H.H.S.S. student council. The three other canoes used on this year's spring trip were privately owned and were loaned to the group.

Food, much of it dehydrated, is carried in packs, and each student has to share the load on portages. The students are also responsible for cooking and cleanup, though the menus for each meal are planned before the trip begins.

This years trip covered 25 miles, and included a dozen portages, the longest of which was more than a mile.

Safety is an important consideration on the trips, and each student is aware that an injury to one of them could ruin a trip for the others. Canoes stick closely together, and no horseplay is tolerated. In the six years that the Outers have been canoe tripping, not one canoe has ever tipped over, Koehler points out.

This year's trip was made more difficult by rain on the first three days and by the threat of rain on the last two days, but reasonably warm temperatures kept the group comfortable.

The students are taught to respect the environment on Outers trips, and that means nothing is left behind at a campsite. Anything that can't be burned is carried out in the packs. Dishes are never washed in the lake, but rather over a grease pit dug for the purpose and covered over with soil when a camp is struck in the morning.

The students also learn that the needs of the group have to come before their individual desires, Koehler says. Those who want to catch an extra few minutes sleep in the morning may miss breakfast, and there isn't anything else until lunch.

The trips aren't easy. "They find it strenuous exercise," Koehler says, but just about everyone who goes on an Outers trip ends up thinking the hard work was worth it. Five of the 16 on this year's trip had been out for the five day trip last year.

Brent Devolin offers a steadying hand to Shelley Hunter as she puts on her pack in preparation for a portage. Packs weigh close to 50 pounds at the start of the trip.

A moral issue

Haliburton County and its road workers reached a settlement Thursday night, ending a three week lockout. Wages were the issue which initiated the lockout, but wages were not entirely the heart of the matter. At issue was a philosophy of labour/management relations that gave the Haliburton County dispute a significance beyond the county itself. The dispute, in its broadest sense, was a dispute that is repeated every week in one part of Canada or another. But the fact that this dispute lay close to home gave county residents the chance to see not only the immediate impact of the dispute, but its broader ramifications, as well.

When negotiations broke down, the county had made what it said was its final offer. It stuck adamantly to its position of wage increases ranging from 22 to 30 cents per hour. The offer, according to the County's negotiating committee, was fair and reasonable.

The road workers, represented by the Canadian Union of Public Employees, maintained that an across-the-board increase in the range of six per cent, the maximum allowable under AIB guidelines, ought to be the basis of a new contract.

In adopting its position, and in sticking to it over a period of several weeks, the negotiating committee members, and county council, were taking a philosophical position which ran counter to the usual one in labour/management relations.

In any round of labour and management negotiations, one side is expected to give, in the form of increased wages, while the other side takes. That has always been the way such negotiations have functioned. Management is asked to grant wage, benefit and vacation improvements, with nothing offered from the workers in return.

The facts of the relationship between labour and management are not specific to Haliburton County. They are general across the country.

The county negotiating committee conformed to this tradition, but was reluctant to carry it beyond a certain point. Wage increases were offered, but a limit on dollar spending was called for, and the county stuck firmly to that limit.

Morally, the county's position was sound. Practically, it may have been damaging to the county's economy, and to the morale of the roads department.

Ratepayers should be aware of the political import of the county's actions in the dispute. To force the issue, it locked the workers out. To resolve the issue, it moved to bend a little on increases, but not on the total cost of those increases.

Throughout the dispute, both sides acted responsibly, despite confrontations that were sometimes tense.

The county remained firm on dollar cost, but compromised when it was necessary. The union members are to be commended for accepting the county's offer at the Thursday meeting.

The dispute has ended. Let's hope both sides are wiser for it.

The Township of Stanhope, which had appealed the 1978 apportionment of school board levies, withdrew that appeal recently. Anson, Hindon and Minden council, which had appealed the 1977 apportionment of Haliburton County levies, decided two weeks ago to take the advice of their lawyers and withhold an objection to the 1978 apportionment. Both councils acted responsibly in withdrawing the objections.

The issue of levy apportionments has long been a contentious one in Haliburton County, primarily because of the nature of the county's tax base. Large areas of crown land, forest land, cottage properties and recreational land create a complex tax base where the possibility of iniquities is great. In registering complaints about apportionments, municipal councils have attempted both to make the provincial government aware of the iniquities in the taxation formula, and to save the taxpayers money.

However, in the past two years, apportionment appeals have been defeated in Ontario Municipal Board hearings. The hearings have cost the taxpayers money, and they have gained little or nothing. The government is currently attempting to devise a system of taxation reform which will alleviate problems in the tax base. If those efforts are successful, appeals of apportionments may not be necessary again.

In the past, apportionment appeals have made the government aware of the need for taxation reform. Further appeals, at least until taxation reform is implemented, would have accomplished little.

Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers should be pleased that the appeals were not carried out this year. It means a saving of tax dollars.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Through our clipping service I recently received a copy of an editorial from your paper entitled 'End Ignorance', published April 12, 1978. On behalf of The Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded I would like to commend your paper, and the writer, for a most sensitive, frank and accurate piece of information.

The problems surrounding the establishment of group homes for the mentally retarded in many communities are indeed often centred on fear, ignorance and even superstition. This Association is currently engaged in the initial stages of a province-wide public education program designed to break through these barriers with truth, reality and understanding. Our efforts cannot succeed without the support of many sectors of the community. Of vital importance is the support of a well informed, and interested press. The writer of 'End Ignorance' has demonstrated these essential ingredients, and has placed your paper in the arena of responsible community involvement. In addition the article will be placed into serious consideration for the first annual media writers award to be presented by this Association for journalistic accomplishments in the field of mental retardation.

Sincerely yours,

Henry J. Botchford,
Director of Communications

Dear Editor:

On July 1st weekend of this year, Iroquois Falls High School will welcome back to its halls all former students, teachers and friends. The program will include a large picnic, a dance, a banquet, tours and a parade. The school began in 1921 and has become a very large and modern institution of 1100 students. Many changes have taken place and former students are welcome to share in the school's complete story. The Welcome Back Commmittee would appreciate your printing this letter to let former staff and students know about our plans. Any former staff member or student who wishes to receive further information should write to us in care of the Iroquois Falls Welcome Back Committee, Box 455, Iroquois Falls, Ontario, POK 1E0, to be placed on this mailing list.

Yours sincerely,
Nancy Festarini
Co-Chairman

To the Editor:

I wanted to drop you a line and tell you how much we enjoyed your articles on the OPP and the Emmerson barn raising. It is most interesting to read about the current events and historic occasions that pertain to Haliburton County.

It appears to me, as it must to the other readers, that you are putting in a lot of work researching your articles - well it's worth it! Congratulations - keep up the good work.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Woods.

Dear Editor:

If you haven't been to Niagara-on-the-Lake, which was once a town like yours, then make a trip and pick up some of their ideas. They have a theatre too that brings in more tourists than the town can hold, and they keep coming back because the town is very beautiful in its quaint, old-fashioned way. You have so much potential - use it and Haliburton could be known as the paradise of the north as Niagara-on-the-Lake is in the south.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Carole M. Lidgold,
159 Flora Dr.
Scarborough, Ontario.

Editor's Notebook by Len Pizzey

Canadians, or perhaps I should say some Canadians, have once again demonstrated why Rene Levesque's cause has received the support of a large number of Quebeckers. Monday, fans at the Toronto Blue Jays game, in Toronto, boohed the singing of O Canada, not because they objected to the song, but because the singer chose to sing some of the lines in French. The fans' reaction is a sad comment on the small minded ignorance and prejudice of so many Canadians from Vancouver to St. Johns.

Anyone who feels smug about the morality and "justness" of Canadian society, should pause to reflect on the action of those fans. A society in which a language spoken by 8,000,000 people is held in contempt by a few million others, cannot legitimately claim to be just.

Certainly, the action of those fans does not represent the feelings of all English speaking Canadians. There are enlightened people across this country who recognize the value of two official languages and the richness of Quebecois culture. But too often, the voices of those enlightened Canadians are drowned out by the petty carping of the foolish.

Objections to the French fact in Canada have little to do with an inate difference between those who speak one language or the other. They stem, as far as I can see, from a reluctance on the part of many people to make any effort at all to learn anything which is beyond the bounds of their immediate experience. "None of my neighbours speak French, so why should it be on the labels of cans or on road signs?" the attitude goes. It's time that attitude changed.

Learning French, like any other learning exercise, takes discipline and effort. And like any other learning exercise, it carries its own rewards, in the form of a richer, more tolerant vision of life.

I spent most of my teenage years in Montreal, so the life of Quebec is perhaps not as unfamiliar to me as it is to many people. Yet, while I lived there, I did not learn to speak French. That came later, while I was in university. I spent two summers living in a little village called Trois Pistoles, in the heart of the Gaspe. It was a good, simple life the people lived there, and hardly a one of them could speak English. Yet then, in the early 70's, they did not resent English speaking Canadians. Perhaps that was because those of us who came to their village were willing to accept their language and their culture, and to make the effort to understand it.

Today, it would probably be different. Today, when Toronto Blue Jays fans boo French words to our national anthem, the people of Trois Pistoles will hear about it. It is just the kind of fuel the Parti Quebecois needs to prove that "Les Anglais" will never accept the reality of French Candian culture.

I hope most Canadians are as outraged as I am when they see the ignorance of the foolish who see French as a threat.

It threatens nothing but small mindedness, can alter nothing but cultural myopia. Boo to those Blue Jays fans. They have no right to call themselves Canadians.

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

I received a letter last week from my friend, Wren Blair, who is owner of the Saginaw Gears, and who play in the International Hockey League. The Gears just recently finished their season and once again it was a great one and they are one of the most successful franchises in the league. The Saginaw Gears drew 203,000 people during the schedule for an average of over 5,000 per game in an arena that seats 5,463. They had 23 sell-outs in this total. Wren went on to say that we're very proud that not only did the Gears lead the I.H.L. in attendance, but to his knowledge they led the entire minor hockey leagues of the A.H.L. and C.H.L. as well. They outdrew several W.H.A. clubs and maybe one or two N.H.L. clubs. The Saginaw Club ended in first place in the Northern Division race, while Fort Wayne captured the south. However, as so often happens both teams were eliminated in the semi-finals. The Port Huron Flags eliminated Saginaw, while Toledo ousted Fort Wayne. Those two clubs are now in the I.H.L. finals for the Turner Cup. Our congratulations go out to Wren on the successful franchise in Saginaw and wish him and the club more success come the next hockey season.

The Victoria Holiday weekend is over and as far as we are concerned it was one of the biggest weekends we have seen here in the Highlands of Haliburton for some time now. The weather outside of Saturday afternoon, when it rained quite heavily, was really ideal as thousands of visitors made their way back to the Highlands. If this past weekend was any indication then we are in for a busy summer. If the economy is as bad as they say it is, one would never know it by the large amount of business done by county business people over the weekend.

I was out a little late on Sunday evening and was surprised that most houses in Haliburton had their lights on and not many seemed to be in bed. At first I thought that everyone likely had company over the weekend and this was the reason that everyone was up a little later than usual. It was here that it dawned on me that the reason that everyone was still up was the fact that no one could leave their television sets with such an exciting playoff game on between the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins. We have witnessed many a thrilling hockey game but I wonder if any could compare with the game in Boston on Sunday night. This was a game that had everything, plenty of end to end action, terrific netminding from both Cheevers and Dryden, with overtime thrown in for good measure. It was a game that was up for grabs right up until the final goal had been scored by the Boston Bruins. It was that kind of a game that the hockey fan didn't know what was going to happen next. Montreal dominated the play in the first two periods, and if it hadn't been for the outstanding netminding of Gerry Cheevers, it could have been ball game over at this point. In the third period it was a different story as the Bruins took command and after being behind by the score of 2-1, scored two fast goals to take the lead only to see the game tied up in the last 29 seconds, setting the stage for the dramatic overtime goal.

The citizens of Haliburton County should feel mightly proud that we have an outstanding airport in the area. We are talking of the Haliburton Highlands Stanhope Airport at Maple Lake. This airport is centrally located which means that you can land your aircraft here and travel all over the Highlands by car and return to take off again for wherever your destination may be. Citizens from all parts of this county have told us that putting this airport at Maple Lake was a very progressive move and one that serves a very much needed service in the area. We share the same opinion of many local citizens and visitors that we have an excellent airport in Stanhope and one that we should all support.

Ninety per cent of Ontario's forest lands are in public ownership. The ten per cent in private ownership possess valuable hardwoods and softwoods, are close to centres of population, and are readily accessible. Now that the summer season is with us, let's keep it in mind that "regardless of ownership, forests yield benefits for all society. They are a renewable resource, deserving care and wise use."

Most of us who have children, I am sure from one time to the other always have the worry of them being hit and killed by a car or a truck. This is one reason why I think it was a great move when the provincial government made it law that every driver must stop when they see the flashing signals on school busses. Most children stop at a crossing first, before progressing across the road. Unfortunately, even after stopping first, most children then run across, recent studies indicate. Some walk, but start running when they see a car coming. The fact that most stop first indicates that they probably try to act correctly, suggests the Ontario Safety League, but are unable to take in the entire situation and act accordingly.

Due to the advanced age in which we live, with our modern technology, we find ourselves involved in many world problems. We find it necessary to depend on each other in order to survive. Whether it be a gas shortage in the United States or the need for food and medical aid in Bangladesh, we become involved. It could be a local mine disaster with the thunder of falling rock, the screech of twisting rails, the rumble of moving earth, somehow we become involved.

In response to major and local tragedies the Canadian people, because of their concern, share both materially and financially. But listen, tragedy hits individuals every day - often not the kind that makes for headlines but it's happening and will happen again. We must be prepared. The Salvation Army, an organization that serves in some eighty-four countries, is ready to deal with almost any crisis. However, they need your help. We should all be involved. Give to the Red Shield Campaign currently in progress.

As a closing thought this week may we remind you that the traffic on our highways is getting heavy. Drive carefully and reach your destination safely.

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

For the past two weeks, Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has taken the lead in questioning the government about the practice of some food store chains of deducting money from payments to suppliers for produce, as part of the chains' advertising costs. Now, using a procedural device, the Liberal Caucus have petitioned the Legislature to have the 1977 Annual Report of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food sent to committee, so that food store buying practices can be reviewed. Dr. Smith said he thought such a review would take only four or five days and then it will be possible to "determine whether a much broader, more intensive public inquiry is needed"..."It has become obvious that some kind of review is necessary to ensure the interests of consumers and producers are not threatened...We want a committee that will be able to question witnesses under oath."

In a document, prepared in January, the Ontario Hospital Association states: "If the government doesn't provide the money needed (by hospitals), then it's not the hospital's fault when services have to be cut." Also in the document are a number of criticisms of the government, particularly the Health Ministry, by individual hospital administrators. The Minister of Health told the Association that the health care system is being reviewed, in a move partly prompted by rising costs. Future ministry policies aimed at reducing costs will, it seems, include less emphasis on active treatment hospitals, decentralization of the health-care system with more control given district health councils and increased stress on preventive medicine. Questioned in the House, he said comments expressed by Association spokesmen "should be taken rather lightly" because they represented only 10 per cent of Ontario's hospital administrators. The document reflects, he said, "the recognition on both parts, the Ministry and the OHA, that the health care system is in transition.

The Minister of Industry and Tourism has announced a $250,000 campaign - "We treat you royally" - to turn around the image Ontarians have gained as boorish and unfriendly hosts to foreign visitors. This program aims to make Ontarians more aware of the value of tourism and hospitality traits, and encourage them to welcome visitors from other areas. The Minister is concerned about inconsistency in standards of food and accommodation, non-competitive prices and the reluctance, by some, to honor exchange rates. (Incidentally, it was only after Remo Mancini (L. Essex-South) informed the House that the U.S. dollar wasn't being honored there, that orders were issued to give a premium on U.S. money in the Legislature's dining lounge.) Excerpts from the Liberal Party's Task Force Report on Tourism were also released, and in it we state that the province's tourist industry is over-regulated, over-taxed and suffers from negative attitudes. The Report also suggested a tax credit for all Ontarians vacationing in the province - "It might even convince some Cabinet Ministers to spend their holidays here."

According to the Premier, Ontario does not want to offer large incentives to the four major automotive manufacturers to locate parts plants here, but may have to do so because competition is so fierce. He told the Legislature he knew that another province was prepared to allocate funds to attract the plants and that most of the Northern U.S. states and some Southern states are bidding. David Peterson (L. London-Centre) pointed out that the Treasurer has said that Ontario doesn't want to offer such subsidies, while the Minister of Industry has said the Province must offer the companies multi-million dollar incentives if it wants to compete. The Premier said meetings with the auto industry are continuing but there will be no instant or easy answers.

Robert Jackson, head of the one-man Commission on Declining Enrolment, has been in considerable trouble about his recently released interim report. In an attempt to impress upon Canadians the fact that our birth rate is steadily dropping and if the trend continues we will have to rely heavily on immigration to boost the population and the character of the country will therefore change, he made some bizarre remarks about test tube babies, paying women to have babies, and racial suicide. Chastised by a Committee of MPP's for gratuitous, insulting, thoughtless and racist statements, he gave a solemn promise not to offend again, stating "They were half-joking remarks that never should have been made." The Minister of Education said he did not agree with Mr. Jackson's comments, but will keep him on as commissioner.

O.P.P. MEETS WITH BUSINESS

The Ontario Provincial Police Detachment at Minden, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, are providing a very important and informative program for local business people on Tuesday, June 6, at the PineStone Inn and Country Club. Merchants in particular cannot afford to miss this valuable opportunity which comes appropriately just piror to their busy season. Constable Wim Magee has arranged an agenda which will provide graphic information on shoplifting, counterfeit money, and fraudulent practices as they concern local merchants. The incidents of shoplifting in our area apparently is increasing at a phenomenal rate and the O.P.P. are prepared to help us do everything possible to bring it to a halt. With this kind of co-operation we all owe it to ourself to be sure to attend. Mark the date on your calendar now before you forget.

New Brochures at the Welcome Centre

Just in time for the first long weekend of the summer, all the new brochures arrived at the Haliburton Highlands Welcome Centre at Minden. Most of you have already seen our new Haliburton Highlands Directory, and in addition to that we have just received a new printing of the colourful Haliburton Highlands County Map which we produced for the first time last summer. The Ministry of Industry and Tourism have now shipped us a full supply of the new Traveller's Encyclopaedia, Accommodation Guide, Camping Guides, Boating Guides, and Fishing and Hunting Guides. Anyone interested in receiving copies of any of these brochures, you are invited to drop into the Welcome Centre which is now open seven days a week. We would like to once again remind all of our members to please make sure we have an adequate supply of advertising brochures for your particular business.

Boating Safety Package Available

Doug MacNamara, who will be working in our area this summer on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross fostering small craft safety, has arranged with the Chamber of Commerce to make the Red Cross Boating Safety Packages available through our office. Any family with boats will find the $2.00 cost of this safety package well worth while, particularly for their children. Included in the contents is the Department of Transport Guide to Boating, a safe boating book, and a proficiency certificate that may be awarded to children who have shown they understand the contents of these books. Anyone requiring further information on the Small Craft Safety Program may contact Doug MacNamara at the Haliburton Hockey Haven Camp, 457-2392.

The School and Business

Consideraable dialogue was given over at the recent Ontario Chamber of Commerce Convention to educational concern. Business people from all parts of the country were united in their observations that schools are presently not equipping our people well to go out into the world of business. There appears to be a widening communications gap between those within our educational system and the real world outside. Our education minister, the Hon. Thomas Wells, readily admitted that his own teenage son had no idea what course of study he wished to pursue, nor what line of work he wished to go into. It was agreed that in this highly complex world this was a difficult decision for young people to make, but it was also felt that not enough is being done to

Pic of the Past

Our pic of the past this week was submitted to us by the late Jack Robertson of Haliburton and shows a section of the great flood that they had in Minden in 1940. It shows part of the area where the Beaverbrook Golf Course is now located. You might notice that the water was so high at this point that the bridge was washed out.

Do you ever do one of those psychological quizzes in magazines or the Sunday paper? They're kind of fun, especially if you do them with your old man/old lady.

We do one every Sunday, although it's not a psych thing, but a straight quiz of general knowledge. And every Sunday morning, I get between 11 and 13 right out of 15, and the Old Battleaxe gets between six and nine right. There goes the rest of the Sabbath.

I try to be decent and modest about it. "It's only because I know more general news, and am about twice as smart as you dear."

She responds: "Yes, it's because you are fascinated by those stupid politicians, have time to read the news while I'm doing housework, and are stupid enough to read a lot of stupid articles and watch stupid TV shows, that you beat me." And so it goes.

But last Sunday morning, after I'd licked her 12-6 on the information quiz, she dug up another one, in a golf magazine, with little squeaks of delight and potential triumph.

It was a personality probe, and the end result was that you were supposed to discover what sort of person you were, and as a side issue, what sort of golf player this would make you. You had to be absolutely honest in your answers. And if you weren't, there was your spouse, across the way, glowering, and saying: "You aren't a bit like that."

So, with brutal honesty, we did the quiz. We'd have been far better off in church, but there you can answer the questions, hide behind the prayer book, and bellow the hymns lustily, although you be a very Old Nick underneath, and nobody knows the difference.

This was real and earnest, with no sidestepping, no hiding, no evasions. And it came out pretty well as we had expected: we are almost total opposites. I've known it for years, but my wife forlornly keeps hoping and saying that we have a lot in common.

Who needs it? The old adage says "Opposites attract." Maybe that's why we got stuck with each other, and have lived happily ever since.

Oh, we have our little differences, but beyond the things like "Drop dead!" or "I'm leaving first thing in the morning," nothing much comes of them.

Well, this quiz really spelled it out. There were 20 questions, each with three categories, and we filled them in religiously.

There were three column. Examples: 1. Dependent - Dominant - Detached. 20. Lets things happen - Makes things happen - Watches things happen.

In both of the above, I was number three, she was number two. And so it went, right down the list.

Both of us had only two or three marked in the first column. In the second and third columns we were almost diametrically opposed although there were a few overlaps.

Here's how we stacked up, if you haven't turned to the comics by now.

My old lady is: dominant, assertive, anxious, kind, extrovert of action, has enduring rapport with people, quick-tempered, irascible, talkative, active, energetic, enterprising, precise, needs people when distrubed, puts stress on doing, makes things happen.

Your humble servant, on the other hand, comes out as: detached, relaxed, calm, considerate, introverted, has extensive rapport, is gentle-tempered, reflective, reserved, cool, inhibited, restrained needs solitude when disturbed, puts stress on perceiving, watches things happen.

We agreed we were both: even-explosive in temperament; had a love of privacy; were self-assured (in most cases); were suspicious. In four out of 20, we have something in common.

Well, which of those two would you want to be stuck with for 30-odd years? My old lady comes across as a quick-tempered, aggressive, dominating bully. Which she ain't.

And I come across as a cold, bloodless piece of calf's liver, hung over the line to dry. Which I ain't.

Like all of those psychological quizzes, it's a bunch of junk. The title of my wife's category is the Triangular Type, or the Muscular Warrior. She is supposed to bully

Report from Parliament

Last Tuesday the House of Commons adjourned for the day without debate in honour of the memory of former Italian premier Aldo Moro. The popular Italian political figure was brutally murdered by terrorists of the infamous Red Brigades after he had been abducted and held prisoner for fifty-five days.

It was the first time that the House has adjourned to honour a foreign dignitary since the assassination of U.S. President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Leaders of all four parties in the House paid tribute to the slain political leader, and offered condolences to his widow and family. Prime Minister Trudeau praised the Italian government for its courage in resisting the temptation to bargain with the Red Brigade assassins for Moro's life.

Speaking for the Conservative party, Opposition Leader Joe Clark said "The meaning of this senseless act of terrorism extends well beyond Italy and indeed becomes an essential preoccupation with all of us."

Clark's warning echoes the fears of many people in Canada that we might be too lax and smug about our relative freedom from terrorist acts, and that we are just as vulnerable as any other country.

A few days ago Solicitor General J-J Blais said that there is no need for special security measures in Canada because we are so civilized and sophisticated. Columnist, Charles Lynch, answered that statement aptly when he said in his column of May 10th that "Blais may be living in a dream world."

Lynch also pointed out that when Canadian security services are successful in rooting out potential terrorists, it is the police and not the criminals who end up in the hot seat.

We cannot afford to forget that only eight years ago we had our own terrorists, and that for a period of time our civil liberties were curtailed to aid in the search and apprehension of the terrorists from the FLQ.

British diplomat James Cross and Quebec Labour Minister, Pierre Laporte, were kidnapped from their homes in 1970. Laporte was murdered by his abducters, while Cross was freed after the federal government negotiated his freedom in exchange for safe passage out of the country for his kidnappers. These kidnappers and murderers were FLQ terrorists.

We learn now that the Cross kidnappers, who were also responsible for Laporte's murder, want to return to Canada and live as freely as though they were law abiding citizens. Apparently their request has the support of the separatist premier of Quebec, Rene Levesque.

There is a lot that we can learn from our own experiences, and from the murder of Aldo Moro. We should start by admitting that we have been too soft in the past on those groups in our society who are plotting the destruction of our country and our way of life.

It has not been through blind luck and divine providence alone that we have not had any serious terrorism in Canada in the past eight years. It has been because of the vigilance of our police forces, and we should be intelligent enough and sophisticated enough to realize that we owe them our thanks and our support, not our censure. I hope that we will wake up to the dangers facing us before it is too late.

Sport's Echoes

by Bill Davis

Well the N.H.L. playoffs are winding to a close and the calibre of hockey is definitely creating playoff suspense. This set of Stanley Cup playoffs was a foregone conclusion in most minds prior to the outset of this round. I, like most everyone else, thought the powerful Montreal Canadiens would sweep the series in no more than five games. However, we were wrong, as the ever dangerous Beentown Bruins have put some interest back in the series by coming back to tie the series at two each and forcing the series to go at least six games.

Cheevers is playing good standup goal, which is the way a good goalie is told to play; but one wonders if an when the goaltending may collapse. The Boston Bruins now have to be sentimental favorites in most peoples' minds, just by fact of their gutty attempt to stave off elimination. On the other hand, Scotty Bowman and company are probably doing some soul searching in an effort to contain the upstart Bruins.

Well, the baseball season is underway for most leagues and the early games have proved that once again the fans are in for some fine entertainment this year. The senior Legionnaires have dropped their opening three games but all but one by a narrow margin.

Over the years H.H.S.S. has moulded some fine athletes in the area of track and field. This year's overall track and field team was no exception as I had the opportunity to take in the Kawartha track meet last week at Trent University. At this meet were the tops of all contestants from all secondary schools from Peterborough, Lindsay, Haliburton and surrounding areas. Haliburton did manage to send 13 individuals on to the C.O.S.S.A. in Oshawa, but to all who competed from H.H.S.S., congratulations. The calibre of competition was high and Haliburton contestant's fared well. Bob Colliver and Gary Brohman are to be congratulated on the many extra hours that were put in to maintain the calibre of competitiveness for which Haliburton is known.

Like most writers in this or any paper for that matter, I like to have a reader input - put into the paper. If anyone has a beef about anything in the area of sports, don't hesitate to bring it to this writers' attention as I am available to try to see that any wrongs that can be righted, are righted, by the responsible parties involved.

On the other hand, it is my responsiblity to commend individuals for their effort in sports and with this remark, hats off to Stan Roberts and his crew from the municipality for the effort put out last week to get the ball diamond ready for last week's home opener of the Legionnaires ball team. Despite adverse weather conditions, the ball diamond was in good shape. A job well done.

"JUST REMEMBER, EVERYONE CAN'T PLAY SPORTS, BUT EVERYONE CAN BE A SPORT.

A competitor strains to heave the discus during the Kawartha championships in Peterborough last week. H.H.S.S. athletes did very well, finishing second among 20 schools.

$67,751 budget approved for recreation in Minden

The Minden Recreation Committee has approved a 1978 budget of $67,751. The approval came at a meeting of the committee in Minden, last Wednesday.

In other business, the group decided that the rate for ice rental would be adjusted to $18 per hour. It was also decided that public skating prices would be altered to $1.25 for those over 16 years of age, and to 75 cents for children under 16.

Information was received from Frank Waters outlining the 1978 Red Cross Swimming Program. The information will be kept for future reference, the committee decided.

The committee decided to advise the Minden Figure Skating Club and Minden Minor Hockey, that the rental rate for the use of the kitchen facilities will be $50 at times when they are being used in conjunction with ice time rental. At all other times, the regular rate will apply.

A letter was received from the Haliburton Ministerial Association requesting permission to use the park area adjacent to the stock pens on October 9, 1979. The request will be referred to the municipal council.

The committee decided to employ Andrew Anderson as a student seasonal helper at a rate of $2.75 per hour.

The secretary was directed to contact both the ladies' and mens' ball teams concerning the possibility of the teams assisting the committee with the upkeep of the ball diamond.

The committee directed the secretary to advise the Minden Figure Skating Club and Minden Minor Hockey that the committee will discuss the grants for 1978-79 once financial statements from the two groups have been submitted.

Brian Sisson was authorized to obtain prices for re-phasing the arena transformer to three phase circuit and to have the repairs done at his discretion.

Baseball returns ...

Leagues formed, schedules made up

Baseball in the county is in the air once again and organizers of the various leagues are trying to put together teams.

Betty Smith, the women's baseball organizer, says that four teams will be competing this year, compared to last year's five. West Guilford has dropped out of the competition. The schedules were made up at a meeting Tuesday night.

Any boys or girls from ages 8-13, interested in playing ball this summer, are asked to call Bill Hartin at 457-1629.

Bill is the organizer this year and is trying to get the local service clubs to sponsor the teams. Time limits of one hour per game will be put on the games this year while school is still in, so the kids can get the rest they need.

Wednesday nights will feature Peewee and Atom double-headers at one of the local diamonds. Registration is free, so come on out kids.

Anyone who can help out in any way (i.e. coaches or sponsors) is asked to get in touch with either of the above people.

World champions celebrate anniversary

Who will ever forget the famous Whitby Dunlops hockey club who won the World Championship in 1958? This battling hockey club, coached by our own Wren Blair, won the championship and we can always remember Wren telling us what a thrill it was when they raised the Canadian Flag and played O'Canada. The coach and the players will never forget that historic moment.

To celebrate the occasion a Whitby Dunlop reunion is being held this coming Saturday and Sunday, May 27 and 28, at the PineStone Inn and Country Club at Haliburton.

It celebrates 20 years since the club defeated the Russians 4-2 on March 9, 1958 at Oslo, Norway, to win the World Title.

The players and their wives of the World Championship Club of 1958 and succeeding Senior "A" years 1958-59 and 1959-60 will be here for this "Dunnie" Reunion.

The weekend will include a golf tournament on the golf course at PineStone, a tennis tournament, a banquet Sat. night, followed by entertainment and a club dance, golf and tennis Sunday and a farewell cocktail party at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Wren Blair.

We here at The Echo join with everyone in Haliburton County in welcoming the Whitby Dunlops here and wish them a weekend of fun and entertainment. We are all proud to have them with us.

News from Extendicare

by Dr. O.W. Anderson

Monday afternoon four movies were shown. The first was a sort of preview of our coming trip to the zoo, showing the various animals in their more or less natural behaviour. The next showed ordinary Canadians going about their daily lives, and so showed nothing very unusual. The third showed the post office with its various sorting machines for letters and for parcels of all shapes and sizes. It was interesting to see how much was manual and how much machine. The machines, having terrific speed, probably saved manual labour by a factor of 100. An interesting feature emerged following the film. This was the discovery that one of our gang, Mr. Howard Mullin, a recent admission, was a postal employee before he joined us. Despite that fact, he seems to be the happiest resident among us. In connection with this it was noted, but not shown in the movie, that the average work period of workers in the larger offices is two and a half hours daily.

The fourth film was titled "Three Grandmothers" and depicted their homes and showed their concerns for their grown up families.

Thursday was our birthday party for all who birthdays in May, which included Ray Smith, Albert Sopher, Bert McKelvey, Mrs. Della Roberts, Mrs. Gladys Holland, Mrs. Maude West, and Mrs. May Emerson. Everyone lined up, sitting or standing at the cake, when pictures were taken. Refreshments were then brought in, the cake was cut and games began. The main game had the contestants sit on blown up toy balloons to deliberately cause them to burst with a loud bang. This released a note on which was written what the contestant must do, viz. ride a horse, mimic a donkey or sit on someone's knee. It was lots of fun. The pianist, to our singing many of the old popular songs, was Mrs. Betty Salvatori. Mrs. Judy Mann was present as a voluntary helper.

The supreme event of the week started when at about 7:00 p.m., we were loaded on a bus, kindly donated gratis by LaRue Bus Lines, and taken to "Fun Night" at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, where we were entertained by Haliburton, Minden and Carnarvon combined, in aid of the residents of both Extendicare Nursing Home and Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. It was a gala night for us, as well as for the many Hyland Crest Senior Citizens of Minden, who also attended.

In Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer's Haliburton Guild Choral Group we spied Mrs. Norma Williamson, one of Extendicare's former staff nurses, and Mrs. Dorothy Rasmussin, our night nurse. This was a splendid group, well trained and well conducted in melodious singing. The pianist was Mrs. Christine Kellett. This whole program was very ably M.C.'d by Art Ward, seemingly the old reliable.

Minden is to be congratulated in having such a harmonious brass band. No doubt very much practice is involved. Mrs. Peggy Neville and Ray Jenkins make a fine pair when it came to soloing at the piano. That was a delightful number. The Gymnastics Club were superb and second to none. Mrs. Aymong deserves much credit in grooming those girls to such excellence.

We would predict that nowhere is there any equal to the skill displayed by Mrs. Brenda Cooper in baton twirling. It was fantastic. It is presumed that square dancing is very much a tradition in the Haliburton, Minden and Carnarvon area. These young folk did very well.

The gong show exemplifies how much pure fun and capers can be derived from a purity of language. It was a delightful performance. Last but by no means least was the very versatile, Mrs. Nancy Picard, and her company. It seems that any musical instrument is a real joy to Mrs. Picard. She appears to enjoy the accordion most.

Extendicare residents wish to thank all for a wonderful evening of pleasure.

Friday morning was our devotional period, with Rev. John Smith our spiritual leader, and Mrs. Velma Smith, pianist. The theme for this service was "As long as life endures, God is with us." The voluntary helpers at the service, as well as the tea service after, were Mrs. Isabel Knapp and Mrs. Eileen Morrison. This Baptist service was very well attended, including a few guests.

Park Street has been built into a fairly good walkway, but occasionally one is brought up by a very snarly dog. It is hard to eliminate all the hazards. Wherever people live, snarly dogs will be with us, laws or no laws. Possibly soon a mulch will be put on to keep this splendid roadway in condition.

It seems everyone is mowing the grass, so Spring is really here.

Larry Anderson and Shawn Allore present the Hulbrigs with tokens of appreciation following a visit of Archie Stouffer grade 2,3,4 and 5 students to the Hulbrigs 100 year old school house last week.

Hockey banquet held

On May 5th, Wilberforce Minor Hockey held their annual banquet. Once again they had tremendous support as approximately 150 parents and players attended. Our potluck supper was a great success again this year. Wayne Rutter said grace.

Murray Agnew, the Master of Ceremonies, did a fine job as usual. Elections were then held for the new 1978-79 executive. The new executive is as follows:

Past President, Mike Oram; President, Don Meharrie; 1st Vice, Vince Billings; 2nd Vice, Tom Coughlin; 3rd Vice, Harold Sutherland; Secretary, Ann Meharrie; Treasurer, Maureen Bousfield; Chairman of Ways & Means, Flo Oram; Convenor, Honie Billings; Publicity Manager, Loretta Billings; Statistician, Ken Binskin.

Plaques were presented to our Past President, Mike Oram and Referee in Chief, Byron Bain, both of whom worked hard all year to make the hockey season a great success.

The Doug Huey Trophy for Most Valuable Player went to Greg Taylor.

Gooderham loses respected citizen

The Village of Gooderham has lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens in the passing of Allan Madill on April 27, 1978. Allan was born and lived all his life in this area.

He was born on April 6, 1893, one of twelve children of Thomas Madill and Emma Madill (nee Cassely) who resided in Monmouth Township, on what was known as the Bear Lake Road.

To establish a farm in those days required moving a lot of stones which were logically piled up to make a fence. Recollection of this stone picking was one of his earliest memories. It was also necessary to clear the land and Allan had vivid recollections of maple sugar bush being cut down to enlarge the plot of agricultural land. During the winter, as a lad, he trudged down to the school house to put on a fire, for which he received the magnificent sum of five cents per day.

At twelve years of age he was part of a lumber camp. Not being big enough to harness the horses, he was given the job of driving the team skidding logs. Coping with the environment was no problem for he soon acquired skills in woodworking, building, metal working and blacksmithing. He recalled with pride the winter when he built two complete sets of logging sleighs, including all the iron work. Even as late as 1976 when he was 83, he started up his forge and completed some necessary welding. He remembered the tall stands of pine, the sawmills and river drives in which he participated.

Eventually he entered the service of the C.N.R. He worked at various times on most of the lines of the Belleville Subdivision, until he acquired enough seniority to obtain an opening on the Gooderham line of the Irondale Bancroft & Ottawa Railway. He remained there until it was discontinued.

When he retired from the railway in 1958 his good health and pride in workmanship enabled him to continue an active life. Hunting and fishing were activities he enjoyed. For more than thirty years he has hunted with Jack Hunter at different locations.

His favourite runway in the hunting camp was affectionately known as "The Hump" which no doubt will be covered this fall and it will come as no surprise if occasionally reference is made to it as "Allan's Runway." As late as 1977 he went on a 'fly in' fishing trip to the area of Algoma Mills and nobody was surprised when he was extremely successful. He had planned to visit this same locality in the coming summer.

A few years ago he had a successful operation for a problem hip joint. Shortly after he made a plane trip to Florida. When he passed through the scanning device it indicated he was carrying metal. He was called aside and inspected but no metal was found on him, no gun, no hand grenade, no knife. To the relief of the inspector the mystery was solved when he told them that he had a metal hip joint.

He will be sadly missed by many, but especially by his wife Sophia, his daughter Audrey Prentice, and by his three surviving sons, Murray, Bob and Moss. He was predeceased by a fourth son Allan (Babe) in 1972.

His alertness, good humour and honesty will long be remembered by all those who had the privilege of sharing his company.

Haliburton Highlights

A crowd of over 125 people were on hand at the Graffiti Dance held in the Arena Auditorium at Haliburton on Saturday night last to dance to the music of the fabulous 50's. Everyone enjoyed themselves and it was all sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton with proceeds in aid of community projects.

A large number of veterans from the Midland Regiment were in Haliburton on Saturday for the annual Midland Regiment Oldboys Reunion. It rained on Saturday afternoon but this didn't stop the Midland Oldboys from holding a parade to the cenotaph and from attending a church service at St. George's Anglican Church on the same afternoon. A dinner was held Saturday night at the curling club, followed by a dance and social evening afterwards. Members of the Midland Regiment saw service in most of the major theatres of war, including Hong Kong, Italy and Europe.

The business formerly known as "Junk for Joy" which is located below Mark's Coffee Shop on Highland Street, in Haliburton, has changed its name to Paulette's Antiques and Gifts.

We understand that the Haliburton Senior Citizens Club, which meets every Thursday at the Arena Auditorium, at Haliburton, are planning some chartered bus trips for the future. One of the trips will be to Ontario Place.

"Now and Then" a musical trio consisting of Dick Stouffer, Jill Blair and Ken Hadley were a big hit when they played at the PineStone Inn and Country Club on Friday and Saturday. The same group will be back at the PineStone again this Friday and Saturday.

Saturday was so busy in Haliburton that it was practically impossible to get a parking space. There is no doubt about it, as the summer arrives something will have to be done to clear up this parking problem.

We're looking for news. Do you know of something important that's happening in Your Community, Area or Organization? We want to know about it too, because it's of interest to our readers. If you hear or see accidents, human interest stories, community events, over 90 birthdays, over 50 wedding anniversaries, etc., in Haliburton, we are interested. Just call the Haliburton County Echo at 457-1037.

Unused electrical wall outlets should be covered with a safety device, recommends St. John Ambulance. Young children have been seriously injured or even electrocuted as a result of tampering with such outlets.

We were unable to attend, but from all reports the "Festival of Fun" held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, on Thursday, May 18, should have been billed as a night of fun. Those attending told us that it was top notch entertainment with plenty of variety, with something to please everyone. It was sponsored by the Boy Scouts of Carnarvon, Haliburton and Minden.

Last week was clean-up and pick-up week at the Rotary Beach in Haliburton when municipal employees were busy painting up and getting the beach ready for the summer activities.

Gems of Truth

THE HOLY SPIRIT

WORK OF HOLY SPIRIT IN OLD TESTAMENT

Every truth in Scripture is progressive in its unfolding! This, indeed, applies to the great doctrine concerning the Holy Spirit. It is for this reason that His work among man in the Old Testament, differs greatly from the New Testament account of His work. Possibly a good way to understand the different activities of this part of the Trinity, is to discuss Him, past, present and future.

That the Holy Spirit is a part of the Godhead is disputed by many people. To some, He is but a sacred influence that seeks to direct our lives. Others, are baffled by the teaching concerning three different personalities existing in the Godhead, and yet to supposedly be Supreme Being.

Yet it remains true, that while there are three distinct Perons in the Trinity, they are but one in essence. There are not three Gods, but one. The Father, Son and Holy Ghost are but one, and only one God. Neither of the Godhead is God without the others. Each with the others is God. Their substance is one, yet at the same time, their substance is a Trinity. All this is hard to understand, and above human reason, but faith enfolds it.

When we accept this truth, it is not so hard to understand the working of the Holy Spirit, in the plan of God.

That He always was in the world as the Omnipresent One, yet came into the world on the Day of Pentecost, becomes increasingly clear as we accept the testimony of God's word.

The sharing of the work of creation is spoken of in numerous passages of Scripture. The "let us" of Gen. 1:26 can have no reference to anyone else but the third person of the Trinity, that is, the Holy Spirit. Again, in Gen. 11:7 we read, "Go to, let "us" go down, and confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech."

There are three things in particular, that are said about the Holy Spirit in Old Testament teaching. The first one, concerns His sharing the work of creation. As the fact of His being Omnipotent, Omniscient and Omnipresent is accepted, we can follow with ease, the great work of Creation and His part in it. Nothing was made without His help and approval. In the Genesis account, it is stated, that the Spirit of God brooded upon the deep (Gen. 1:2). Job, likewise, speaks of His work on numerous occasions (Job 26:13, 33:4).

Again, we find Him empowering men for special duty. Throughout the Old Testament, He acted in free sovereign will, coming upon certain men for a specific purpose, or period of time, then leaving them again. In this particular dispensation, prior to the first advent of Christ into this world, the Holy Spirit was here as the Omnipresent One. Notwithstanding this fact, He also acted in complete sovereignty coming upon whom He would and empowering the individual for a special work.

Such instances, we find time and time again through the Old Testament. Men, like Samson, Gideon, Jonathan and many others are recorded as doing feats impossible to man alone. The Holy Spirit was their source of strength or skill.

Another phase of the work of the Spirit, is the revelation He gave to the Old Testament prophets. The numerous prophecies and predictions made by them, concerning the coming of the Messiah, was revealed to them by the Holy Spirit. That Jesus would establish a kingdom, and reign in righteousness, is the revelation of no one else but the great Omniscient One of the Godhead.

The prfound utterances of these Old Testament prophets is indeed marvelous. The fulfillment of statements made by them, even to minutest details, can be credited to no human power. Therefore, the astonishing evidence of a supernatural mind is stronger evidence of the work of the Holy Spirit, than the great feats of strength wrought by men of the Old Testament period. [to be continued]

The Right Rev. Bishop Lewis Gainsworthy, Bishop of Toronto, will be at St. George's Anglican Church, Haliburton, Sunday, May 28, at 11:00 A.M. to conduct a confirmation service.

"Appreciation goes to all the coaching staff, managers and executive for their time and hard work in organizing our hockey association.

Although we were late starting last year we are very proud of Glen Clarke and Gregg Remmelgas who were our Ontario Showdown Finalists. Congratulations to both.

Next year, with a larger executive and our new arena, and earlier ice time, and the possibility of being affiliated with O.M.H.A., Wilberforce should provide us with some very competitive hockey. With your support, next year should and will be better.

Are you still letting them kick sand in your face?

Chatting with Irene

The first holiday of the summer has passed and from the number of cars on the highway, everyone was out to enjoy it. The weekend weather was very kind to the visitors, but the blackflies are out in full force. They are pesky critters and this year seem bigger than other years. As I get older they seem to like me better and I know it isn't because I'm any sweeter!

Mr. & Mrs. Garnet Coulter of Campbell River, B.C. have been visiting friends and relatives in the area for the past few weeks.

If you want to go on the W.I. bus trip next week, and haven't contacted Mrs. Annie Kernohan yet, this is your last chance to see if any seats are still vacant.

The Single Parents Group are having a meeting at Victoria St. School, in Haliburton, on Thursday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m. All single parents are invited to attend. Now some of you may think that it is just another gimmick but I have been talking to some who have been to the meetings, and they tell me it really helps to know how other single parents are coping with problems, so why don't you go to a meeting, and find out for yourself?

Mrs. Linda Adams of Gander, Nfld., whose husband is with the Armed Forces at Alert, visited with the Wm. Moores recently.

There are getting to be too many W. Moores around this area. We are going to have to have some way of identifying ourselves. The other day I got a phone call asking how soon the piglets would be old enough to get. For a moment it stunned me, as we live right in Minden where the only animals one is supposed to have are cats and dogs. Right now there are too many dogs, for unless they are tied up, you aren't supposed to even have a dog, but there sure are a lot running loose.

Mr. Gerald Coulter of Toronto; Mr. & Mrs. B. Reynolds and Sydney of Huntsville; and Mrs. Abe Upton of Utterson, were Sunday visitors with Mr. & Mrs. Angus Coulter.

Miss Marjorie Dawkins, Mrs. Lorne McCallum and Miss Lori McCallum of Lindsay, visited with Mrs. Ben Harrison last week.

The Minden & District Horticultural Society Executive and Directors are meeting at Minden Library, Monday, May 29, 7 P.M.

Everyone said how good it was to get all that rain last week; everyone, that is, except me, for even yet when I go out to the garden I get mired, don't know when it will dry up enough to plant. One thing I do know is that even with no seeds in, the weeds are sure growing.

Had a very interesting history lesson last Friday when along with a bus load of children and their teachers, Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Warder from the Minden School, visited the historic Lutterworth Union School, Section #5, 1878.

Mrs. Denzil Cox was also with the group, and gave a brief talk of what it was like when she taught in that building 34 years ago.

Mr. John Hulbig acted as commentator, pointing out the interesting items that were in use in the school in the good old days. The teachers desk on the raised platform, the seats with the old inkwell in the corner, this was of interest to the boys especially, when they were told how the girls pigtails used to be dipped in the ink when a girl sat ahead of a boy. There were the slates, textbooks, and other books of the past. Mr. Hulbig showed them how the old gramaphone still played the cylinders of yester years, one small trunk was lined with the Family Herald & Weekly Star, dated January 10, 1900. Not only are there the items of school, but many other things of the past such as flat irons, radios, churns, washers, skates, and the Hulbigs are to be complemented on saving so many of the things that to most of us are lost. Mrs. Hulbig served refreshments to the children, before they left. She was dressed in old fashioned costume.

I wonder if Lutterworth Twp. realize how lucky they are to have such a mine of history in their midst.

By the way, did you remember that on June 3 there will be a beef barbecue at the Community Centre. They tell me that this year the horseradish will be milder than last year. After the supper is over there will be films, then you can dance to the tunes of the Misty River Ramblers. All proceeds go to the County Fair. Supper will start at 6 P.M.

The Minden Women's Institute held they May meeting at the Orange Hall with 27 present. The president welcomed the ladies and the meeting proceeded as usual. The school exhibits will be judged at the school on May 24 and those winning prizes will be exhibited at the County Fair.

The District Annual is to be in Fenelon Falls on May 25, and the delegates will be attending. The bus trip to Perth, Smith Falls was discussed and tours of Kitten Mills, Hershey Plant and Cheese Factory are to be arranged if possible.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

Many of the local young people have been asking for a dance just for them. On Friday, May 26, from 8:00 P.M. to 11:00 P.M., The Ladies Auxiliary of the Firemen are sponsoring a Teen Dance in the Norland Community Hall. Admission is $1.00 and recorded music will be used for dancing. Come out and join your friends for this special evening, teens.

Please note that the Laxton, Digby, Longford council meeting has been changed from the first Tuesday of the month of June to Monday, June 12.

On Saturday, May 13, Norland Public School pupils, Paula Janke, Kelly Nicholls, Colleen Janke, Tracy Davis, Melody Nicholls, Karen and Lisa Davey, completed in the gymnastics competition at I.E. Weldon Sec. School, in Lindsay. The girls, under the supervision of Mr. J. McKechnie, had spent many hours after school practicing for this gym meet and though they did not win any prizes, our congratulations for a job well done in tough competition and better luck next time.

Still on the subject of school. Tuesday, May 16, was the Norland Home and School meeting and the principal and staff had spent some time planning an interesting evening for the parents of the students. It is certainly discouraging when so few parents turn out that the business part of the meeting had to be postponed until next fall. There were local men present to tell the audience about the newly formed Norland Athletic Club that is trying to organize baseball teams in the area and hopefully other sports later. Mr. Haugh, the school principal, is trying very hard to develop a rapport between the parents and teachers at Norland Public School but he needs the co-operation of everyone to accomplish this. Please keep this in mind when asked to attend future Home and School meetings.

On June 8, the pupils of kindergarten, grades 1 and 2, will be travelling to Bracebridge to see the Shriner's Circus and the pupils of grades 3 to 8 will be visiting the Ontario Science Centre, in Toronto, on June 12.

The Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts will be held May 26 to June 4. Lion's Hall, Coboconk, will be the centre where most of the activities will take place in this area. On Saturday, May 27, there will be a dance from 9:00 P.M. to 1:00 A.M. and on Sunday, May 28, an Interdenominational Service at 3:00 P.M. with guest speaker, D.A. Murray, Warden of Victoria County. On Monday and Tuesday, May 29 and 30, there will be exhibits and demonstrations of local handcrafts and art from 1:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M.

John Eakins, M.P.P., will officially open the Arts Festival for this area at 1:00 P.M., followed by musical selections of Islington Youth Choir at 1:30 and guest soloist, Sylvia Tyson, at 2:30 on Monday, May 29.

Haliburton man subject of story

On crisp, cold spring nights, Murray Fry "hears, feels and even tastes the life he knew as a boy growing up in the wilds of Ontario." So goes a paragraph in a story which appeared in the Fond Du Lac Michigan Reporter early last month. The story was about maple syrup making done "the old way" and the "wild of Ontario" to which its' writer referred are the "wilds" of Haliburton County.

Murray Fry, who along with his wife Dorothy, was the subject of the story, is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Lorne Fry, of Eagle Lake. Murray Fry was educated at Eagle Lake and graduated from Haliburton High School when it was in what is now the Lakeview Centre, according to his father, Lorne. In 1954, Murray went to the U.S. and joined the Marines. Following his discharge he went back to school and graduated as an electrical engineer. He has lived and worked in the Fond Du Lac Michigan area for the past 17 years.

In 1977, the Frys bought an 18 acre piece of land that included a hard maple bush, and decided to tap the bush for maple syrup. "We moved here because we wanted to experience some of the things our ancestors probably experienced" the story quotes Dorothy Fry as saying. "We wanted the kids (Rosie, 20; Renee, 14; Mark, 13; Gina, 9; and Mike, 5) to have some idea of how things were done a long time ago and what it's like to be in the woods and be independent."

The story goes on to detail the process of tapping and boiling which yields the maple syrup.

"The sap swells in a foamy froth to the lip of the cauldron then subsides as a cooling ladle of sap is added," the story concludes. "That's just the way Murray Fry did it when he was a kid growing up in Ontario and it is something you never forget once you've had the pleasure."

Buying "The Works" may be the easiest decision you make when you buy your car.

Luxury cars. Mid-size. Wagons. After you decide on the size of your new car, you must then decide on a wide choice of options. All of these decisions are important and you should take the time to think about them. But one option you can feel most secure about is THE WORKS. That's what we call Mechanical Repair Protection because it protects you against unexpected mechanical repair bills for the major working parts of your car.

What exactly does it cover?
THE WORKS covers parts and labour, subject to a $25 deductible, for replacing major parts of the car's engine, transmission, drive axle, steering, brakes, electrical system, and factory-installed air conditioning, when required due to mechanical breakdown, except when covered by the manufacturer's warranty.

How long is this protection good for?
For new cars, Mechanical Repair Protection is good on all items mentioned above for the first 36 months or 60,000 kilometres (36,000 miles)–whichever comes first. On eligible used cars, the same coverage applies from the date of purchase for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

I need my car everyday. What happens if it's in the shop overnight?
The coverage gives you up to $10 a day toward a rental car of your choice for a maximum of $50. The repairs must be a result of mechanical breakdown on any part covered in the agreement. This reimbursement applies from the first day you own the car.

Will I pay the bill from the Service Department at the dealership?
Not for the specific parts and labour covered under THE WORKS except for the $25 deductible. The bill goes directly from the repair dealer's Service Department to Motors Insurance Corporation–the insurance people from General Motors who back your plan. You just pay the small deductible and get your car—repaired and ready to go.

I'm almost convinced. But what will it cost?
Not nearly as much as you might think. For example, on new Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs, the cost of protection varies from $129 to $180 depending on the make and model. But don't forget–that's protection for 36 months or 60,000 kilometres (36,000 miles), whichever comes first.

You've sold me. But am I covered on trips around the country?
Definitely. If anything covered in the plan goes wrong with your car, just drive into any GM dealer in Canada or the U.S.A. Everything will be looked after just the same as it would be at home.

For full details on Mechanical Repair Protection, THE WORKS, see your participating GM Dealer.

Trent system remains closed

As was mentioned in this newsletter last week, navigation was to open on Wednesday, May 17, 1978. Rainfall of 55 mm in the ten days May 8 to 17, which has overfilled most reservoir lakes as well as the Kawarthas, has prevented opening of the locks. Flows through Peterborough on the Trent River section now average 10,000 cubic feet per second (cfs), far beyond the 4,000 cfs which is the limit for safe boating in the river reaches. Some marker buoys have become submerged and dangerous cross currents are occurring at lock entrances.

In response to representations from the Haliburton Water Levels Committee we had attempted this spring to hold more water from the snowmelt runoff. This approach appeared to present no problems until the rain began. With no further storage remaining unfilled, many reservoir lakes exceeded their normal full level before they could be brought under control. At this writing flows in the Gull River have reached 1,330 cfs and the Burnt River flow at 2,770 cfs was down from a peak of 2,970 on May 18. Peaks from the snowmelt had been 1,080 cfs on the Gull and 3,450 on the Burnt about four weeks ago.

Reservoir storage shot up from 97.5 per cent last Thursday to 102 per cent on Monday, May 15. By May 18 the storage stood at 100 per cent after the removal of many stoplogs.

Kawartha Lake levels are generally higher than summer levels and control dams at Lindsay (controlling Scugog Lake) and Buckhorn (controlling Chemong, Buckhorn, Pigeon and Bald Lakes) have all their stoplogs removed to pass the excess water as quickly as possible.

Lock stations from Rosedale to Gambridge are operating, but the Severn River section below Lake Couchiching is closed with a flow of 4,500 cfs in the river there.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching is also overfilled and the control structures at the outlet are discharging near capacity.

Work is progressing smoothly on the new marine railway at Big Chute. The finishing touches are being done to the car with the hope of beginning to do some testing on various parts of the equipment by the end of the month.

Once these are complete, further tests can then begin on the actual operation of the car. It is expected that the testing and adjusting will carry on until mid-summer, before it can be used to transport boats over the Chute.

Boaters should not depend on the new car operating continually once it does become operational. Due to its unique design, there could be periods when the car is not operating so adjustments and problem areas can be worked on.

The old marine railway will be used as a back-up system and will be used when the new car is not operating.

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Margaret Pickens of Gooderham:

The drum of a grouse at midnight,
The whip-poor-will's low chuck,
The shriek of a lynx in the darkness,
The whistle of a buck,
Or the gurgling sound of the tree-toad
From the limb of a nearby tree,
May not be music to some of you
But it's music, folks, to me!

The great horned owl, on his perch,
Hoo-hooing from the swale;
The grunting of a porcupine
As he waddles up a trail;
The yap of a fox from the hillside,
The loon's long drawn-out cry,
May not be music to folks like you
But it's music to such as I.

Beethoven was a master
At arranging notes to please,
But, a Master far above him
Makes His music just for me.
The whispering in the tree-tops,
The soughing in the pines,
The rustling of the autumn leaves
When they are dead and dry;
Nature's woodland calls of night
And a voice in every tree....
This may not sound like music
But it's music, folks, to me!

The above poem was taken from a book of poems called "Tales of the Trail" written by Theodore Peacock.

The residents of Glamorgan are privileged to call Theo a good neighbour and friend.

In 1974 when the Glamorgan Council decided to publish the book as a Centennial Project, Theo very generously donated the profits of the book to the Glamorgan Library. It is his hope that through the Library the people would develop a greater respect for their natural surroundings.

Since the book has been published, the Library has received three donations from Theo, the most recent for $1,000. which the Committee accepted with gratitude.

The old saying that money isn't everything holds true in this case. Although the money is deeply appreciated and allows the Committee to consider projects that otherwise would be impossible, the real treasure is the book itself which gives the reader a great deal of pleasure and a better understanding and appreciation of this wonderful part of the country we live in.

WEATHER

The weather is everyone's favourite topic of conversation, so we'll make a comment in this week's column.

The cool weather of late April delayed the start of field work in all parts of Ontario.

By the end of April, farmers were generally on the land in Victoria County and a lot of spring grain and some corn was seeded the first week in May.

Monmouth to vote on liquor

Monmouth voters will be asked to decide if they want to allow the sale of liquor on a licenced premises. At a special meeting May 9, Monmouth Township council passed a resolution to submit the issue of selling beer, wine and spirits under a lounge license for consumption on the licensed premises, to a vote.

Council also decided that the plebiscite on the matter should be held August 12, instead of at municipal election time in November, because approximately 65 per cent of the eligible voters are seasonal residents.

At a special meeting May 15, which was attended by a representative of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, Monmouth Township council opened tenders for a truck and for gravel.

A tender for gravel from Don Herbert Sand and Gravel at a price of $3.57 per cubic yard, was accepted.

There was no report of a tender for the truck being opened or accepted.

Graham Neville was the fast talking MC for the mini gong show at the annual Boy Scout fun night in Haliburton Thursday evening.

Peggy Neville made a short lived try at opera singing during the mini gang show at the Boy Scout fun night last Thursday in Haliburton. She was gonged.

Various acts featured

Boy Scouts hold festival

The setting may not have been quite as elaborate, but in just about every other way, Haliburton's own version of the "Gong Show" was a match for the television original. The local version of the "Gong Show" was just one of the many featured acts which entertained a large crowd at the annual Boy Scout "Festival of Fun" Thursday night at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Proceeds of the evening went to Extendicare and to the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. Residents of both were in attendance for the show, and all seemed delighted with the evening of fun and music making.

The program began with a welcome to the audience from the Beavers, youngest members of the scouting organization, and the newest scouting group in Haliburton.

Opening act was the Haliburton Guild Choral Society under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer. They were followed by Ted Scott, who played a number of guitar selections.

The Minden Brass Band then took over the stage of the gymnasium to stir up the audience with some rousing tunes. Singing followed, with solos by Mrs. Peggy Neville and duets by Linda and Carol Sheckleton.

Following an intermission, a number of youngsters, students of Mrs. Aymong, took to the floor for an impressive display of gymnastic skills.

Baton twirling was next on the program, as students of Mrs. Brenda Cooper displayed their talents.

Old time fiddle music and the precision of square dancing had many an audience member's toe tapping following the baton twirlers' display.

Earl and Sid Cooper on violins and Jack Neville on piano provided the music for the eight dancers whose enthusiasm for the caller's signals brought back pleasant memories for many of the older members of the audience.

The mini Gong Show followed, and it included Graham Neville, an MC who had the mannerism of Chuck Berris down pat, an opera singer, a vaudeville type comedy team, a "Newfie" sailor complete with boat and oilskins, punk rock singers, and three blindfolded singers whose act, much to their surprise, concluded when whipped cream pies were added to the music. Needless to say, the audience was at least as amused as the three who got a taste of the pies.

The evening concluded with accordion music played by Mrs. Nancy Picard, who urged the audience to sing along.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Art Ward.

Rains the second week of May, along with some warmer temperatures were welcomed, to get hay and pasture fields growing, thus allowing cattle to be turned out of their winter quarters.

Unfortunately, last week the weatherman was unable to get the rain shut off, so farmers spent the week looking at muddy fields, some of them flooded almost as badly as they were earlier during the spring thaw.

There are two major cropping concerns in this area now.

The first one has to do with corn varieties. Many farmers have been lucky for the past two years, growing corn varieties which require one to two hundred more heat units than we usually receive. With late frosts in the fall, they got mature corn. However, the lateness of planting now this spring, makes the sowing of these varieties even more risky.

An early corn variety should be seriously considered by any farmer who doesnt have his corn sown yet.

The second concern is disease in late seeded cereal crops. In 1976, a considerable acreage of oats and barley in Victoria County was affected by the Yellow Dwarf Virus. With early seeding last year, there was almost no damage from this disease. It's too early to know if it will cause problems in '78, however, the later these grains are sown, the more susceptible they are.

So, we'll hope the weather is warm and dry for several days in a row to enable farmers in the area to finish seeding their spring crops.

Rated ninth in the world, Bugle corps practiced at Minden

Rifles twirl as the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps practice in Minden. The group is among the best in the world, and has been staying at an area camp recently.

Don't ever call the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps, a marching band - the members are liable to feel insulted.

"They get very angry if anybody ever calls them a "marching band." There's a big difference," says Mike Grimes, publicity manager and assistant drum major for the band.

The Corps had been practicing at the Minden Elementary School in preparation for a summer tour around North America. They work out of Toronto and compete in various drum and bugle corps competitions throughout the continent.

Grimes says the final competition is at the Drum Corps International Competition in Denver, Colorado. This is where bands come from all over North America and the world to compete in an international contest.

The Corps has won both the Ontario Provincial and Canadian championships in past years.

"Our Corps is ranked ninth in the world," Grimes aid, adding that the majority of the bands at the competition are from North America. "Most of the good corps come from Canada and the United States. There aren't that many in Europe who can compete with us," says Grimes.

The corps is sponsored by Seneca College in Toronto and was formed on February of 1976 when the Seneca Princemen merged with the Toronto Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps to form the present corps.

Most of the members of the corps are between the ages of 14 and 21 and many are still in school.

"We practice on weekends when school is still in. When the summer comes along, we begin our tour of the continent and practice a lot," says Grimes.

Practice, he says, consumes a large portion of the Corps member's time, and rarely is there a moment of leisure. They practice 16 hours a day with a half hour break for lunch. But, Grimes says that "there is time for the occasional party or dance."

Members give up jobs, friends and family just to be in the band, but many do not mind since there are nearly 130 persons in the Corps.

"It's like one big happy family," says Grimes

The Corps left Minden, Monday night, for Peterborough, where they played at a high school concert. Their first competition will be at Kitchener on June 11 and from there, the Corp's North Amercia tour will begin

Drummers of the Seneca Optimist Drum and Bugle Corps, concentrate on the beat as they rehearse for the upcoming world championships in Denver, Colorado.

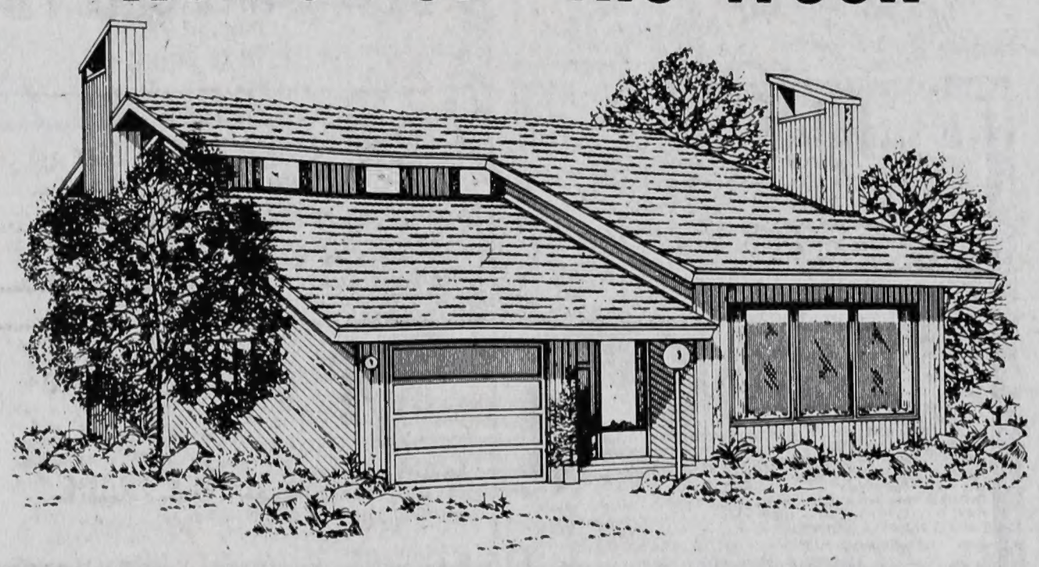
Home of the Week



Plan Number: 78-1819B:

This one-and-one-half storey contemporary design has three bedrooms and a full basement for the family which requires space for storage or expansion and is ideally suited to the narrow frontage urban lot.

The exterior presents a pleasingly modern low profile, finished in mixed vertical and diagonal siding, charmingly rustic cedar shake roof and twin chimneys to accommodate the energy-efficient fireplaces. The roof overhang provides a weather-recessed entrance from either the garage or afoot.

The entrance foyer leads naturally right, into the long living-dining room combination, which features large front window for excellent natural lighting and an up-to-the-minute, energy-efficient fireplace, for cozy and convivial entertainment evenings. The dining room separates from the kitchen via pocket door for division of casual family meals and formal dining.

The large family room and nook combination possesses a second energy-efficient fireplace, and connects to the rear patio via sliding glass doors. The extended and U-shaped kitchen is planned for economy of motion and effort and divides from the nook via snack bar counter.

A utility room, laundry and vanity bath is conveniently connected to the family room via pocket door and has access to the single garage, allowing it to serve as a mud room.

All three bedrooms are located upstairs and have generous closet storage and excellent natural light. The large master bedroom has a three-piece ensuite with tub and double closets, one of which is a walk-in.

This design derives maximum usage from the space which it contains in a logical and appealing package. The optional basement allows abundant space for the future development of additional living room or recreational facilities. The electric heating and double fireplaces are a logical response to the need for energy conservation.

Plans for design No. 78-1819B may be purchased either by single set, at a cost of $70.00 for the first set and $10.00 for each additional set, or by the package. A five-set plan package, including the first set, is economically priced at $100. and an eight-set package, also including the first set, is only $125.

Whichever method you choose, please include $4.00 for postage and handling. B.C. residents add 5 per cent sales tax.

Send for the current edition of Select Home Designs, Series #36, featuring imaginative decorating and home improvement ideas, plus 350 quality home plans of every type. Available for $2.25 ($1.75 plus 50 cents postage and handling.)

My category is called the Linear Type, or the Loner. I'm supposed to be a solitary, not wanting confrontation, and even want to go out and play twilight golf by myself. Ridiculous. I wouldn't walk across the street to play nine holes of golf by myself. One of us might win.

The only thing we found out from the quiz was that we both should have been in the first column, called the Circular, the happy extrovert who enjoys golf and plays an excellent game.

Scott pleased over grant

Bill Scott, M.P. Victoria-Haliburton, was pleased to learn recently that a New Horizons Program grant in the amount of some $8,000 had been granted to a group of senior citizens in the community of Coboconk.

The "Committee of Creative Arts" headed by President, Dug Merrett, of R.R. 2, Burnt River, are attempting to develop greater interest and participation in the Victoria County choral, craft and drama activities for senior citizens. As well as regular activities, members will put on plays, give concerts and have craft displays and demonstrations during the upcoming "Festival of the Arts."

The New Horizons program is an ongoing project of the Ministry of Health and Welfare, aimed at assisting senior citizen clubs across Canada.

IN MEMORIAM

COWAN, Valerie - In loving memory of our daughter Valerie who left us so suddenly on May 23, 1971.
As long as we live, we will cherish her name,
In memory we see her ever the same,
Still in our hears she's living yet,
For we loved her too dearly to ever forget,
A beautiful memory, dearer than gold,
Of a daughter whose worth can never be told,
Alive and unseen she stands by our side,
And whispers, don't grieve, death cannot divide.

Lovingly remembered Mom and Dad.

COWAN, Valerie - In loving memory of our sister Valerie who passed away May 23, 1971.
To us she was someone special,
Someone set apart,
Her memory will live forever,
Engraved within our hearts.

Sadly missed by sister Kendra, brothers David and Jim.

FADER, Verle - In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, Verle Fader, who passed away on May 29, 1968.
Our thoughts are ever with you,
Though you have passed away,
And those who loved you dearly,
Are thinking of you today.

Ever remembered by his Wife, Winnie, and Family.

MAUGHAN, William - In loving memory of a dear Father, who passed away May 29, 1972.

IN MEMORIAM

He left us quietly, his thoughts unknown,
But left us a memory we are proud to own,
So treasure him Lord in your garden of rest,
For when on Earth he was one of the best.

Lovingly remembered and never forgotten, by daughter Margaret, and son-in-law Walker, and grandchildren.

MAUGHAN - In loving memory of our dear Father, John, who passed away on May 25, 1977.
He bade no one his last farewell,
He said good-by to none,
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving Voice said, "Come"
We often sit and think of you
The things you used to say;
We wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say good-by.
Though out of sight, you're ever
Still missed, loved, still ours;
You will live with us in memory
Until the end of time.

Sadly missed by all his children, Leonard, Sharon, Miles, Nancy and Susan.

MAUGHAN, in loving memory of a dear husband, John, who passed away on May 25, 1977.

Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand I cannot touch,
Still I have so many memories
Of the one I loved so much.
His memory is my keepsake,
With which I'll never part;
God has him in his keeping,
I have him in my heart.

Lovingly remembered by his Wife, Violet.

familiarize young people with various vocations in order that they may make intelligent decisions in this regard. Hopefully from these discussions some working relationships will evolve between business and the education sectors to improve on this situation. Here in Haliburton the problem runs even deeper in that training for a great many vocations does not qualify the student to gainful employment here in our county due to our lack of industry. On the other hand what are we doing to best train those students with no intention of ever leaving this community to best make a living in it.
